I am satisfied that cancer is hereditary in my family. My father died of it, a sister of my mother died of it, and my own sister died of it. My feelings may be imagined then when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant cancer, eating inwardly in such a way that it could not be cut out. Numerous remedies were used for it but the cancer grew steadily worse until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of my family. I took Swift's Specific, which from the first day forced out the poison and continued its use until I had taken several bottles when I found myself well. I know that S. S. S. cured me. MRS. S. M. THE WATERS RAN HIGH

Great Destruction of Property on the Atlantic Coast.

THE SEVEREST STORM IN YEARS

It Is Thought That Many Lives Have Been Lost at Sea—Great Havoc Wrought at the Summer Resorts.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The hydrographic office has prepared a statement to the effect that tidal marks along the coast of New Jersey and Long Island for the past few days were caused by a hurricane coming up the coast from the West Indies. Disasters at sea are feared.

The necessity for telegraphic communication with Bermuda and Nassau that warnings to shipping may be given is pointed out.

This is the hurricane season and grave fears of disasters to shipping are entertained.

THE WORST OF RECENT YEARS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Incoming vessels are anxiously waited for for news of the great storm at sea which has been raging during the past few days. That it has been the worst of recent years is made evident by the high tides and storms which have done such great damage along the coast.

In this city the cellars and first floors of buildings along the water front are all flooded. This morning the ferryboats are having great difficulty in getting into their slips.

Reports of great damage done by the storm at high tide last night are arriving constantly, and as the tide this morning is higher than last night it is evident that an enormous amount of property has been destroyed.

Along the New Jersey coast the low beaches are submerged and railroad tracks injured.

Thousands of spectators watched the surf which is the wildest and highest known in years.

Atlantic City is completely cut off from the mainland and many bathing houses are ground up into kindling wood. Several pavilions were lifted bodily from their pilings and destroyed.

Report from Coney Island shows this to be the worst storm ever known there.

All night long the waves dashed over the breakwater at Manhattan and Brighton beaches with a tremendous roar. The marine railway between those places is entirely swept away. This morning not a vestige was left of the esplanade in front of the Manhattan hotel and the tide flows in and out of the basement of the building.

In this city some of the piers are entirely covered by the tides. Some which are usually twelve feet above high water mark, have their decks licked by the angry waves. The bay and river are exceedingly turbulent owing to the high winds. The sailors say it is the greatest flood in twenty five years.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

It is believed that the gale is right in the track of the ocean steamers and it is feared that some of them, including the City of New York and the Teutonic have suffered. Telegraphic communication to Sandy Hook is cut off. Outside the harbor so rough is the weather that boats dare not venture out.

Word comes from Coney Island that the tide was higher this morning than last night.

At Manhattan beach the Oriental Hotel was flooded to the doors and the occupants were unable to leave. The West End Hotel was entirely submerged.

The water is flowing over to Sheepshead Bay.

The beach at Manhattan has been entirely washed away. The persons still there are badly frightened.

A Coney Island special says: The mammoth bathing pavilion belonging to the Manhattan Beach Company was beaten down by the thundering waves to-day. The old marine railroad was carried away early to-day and taken with an awful crash over the new marine railroad, fully 300 feet inland carrying the latter away, overturning and smashing the cars like kindling wood. The old Brighton Beach bathing pavilion followed with a deafening crash, and drifted with herculean force against the new bath house tearing a part of that away. The Brighton Beach Hotel is surrounded by over two feet of water. One hundred feet of lawn in front of the hotel has been eaten away since last night. All will be gone before night. The Brighton Beach Railroad is submerged and no trains are running.

Reports from up the Hudson show that the tide to-day was the highest for many years. At Poughkeepsie the water covered the docks for nearly 100 feet from the usual water's edge. A severe storm is raging on the river to-night, and a strong northeasterly gale is blowing.

The high tides that have been prevailing for the last two days have caused great damage along the coast of Long Island. At Rockaway beach the tide reached an unparalleled height to-day. Bathing houses were washed away and the water broke into the verandas of the hotels. A short stretch of railroad was submerged and a portion of it was undermined. Trains had to be discontinued. The bridge between Arverne and Rockaway was carried away. All of the small islands in Jamaica bay were covered with water. Scarcely anything could be seen of Hog island to-day. At high tide all of the buildings on the island had been washed away. Barn island and Oak island were cut off from all communication with the main land by boat or telegraph. From the Babylon shore great waves could be seen breaking over both islands. During the afternoon it was rumored that four cottages on Oak island occupied by families from Babylon had been carried away. Efforts made to send a boat from Babylon to the assistance of the occupants of the cottages, but it was beaten back by the wind and tide. At a late hour no definite news had been received concerning their fate. Sag harbor was flooded. Water covered the [illegible] railway tracks and yard. All the towns along the shore report more or less damage. The small craft anchored in the harbors and bays were driven ashore and in some instances completely destroyed. The telegraph and telephone wires are down all over the island.

The storm which has been raging all day has continued during the night. The waves at the battery swept over the sea wall into the street. Never in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, has the tide run so high. It crept to-night up to the level of the streets. East and West rivers are almost deserted and none of the smaller craft seem inclined to venture out. The high tide created sad havoc in the cellars along river front, some of them having nine feet of water, being reported in one of them before the tide fell.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The Tribune in its story of the storm at Coney Island, says: Those who built houses upon the sands of Coney Island mourn to-day the loss of property worth about a quarter of a million of dollars. Hundreds of the ginger bread pavilions of West Brighton have been destroyed, and the beautiful surroundings of the big hotels at Brighton and Manhattan beaches have been made the scenes of desolation. The highways connecting the whole series of resorts from Norton's point to the Oriental Hotel are littered with wreckage of every description to a depth of several feet. The roads themselves are made impassable by a varied assortment of obstructions ranging from a six foot washout to the wreck of a whaleboat. The beach for two miles is almost hidden by the remains of high gabled structures and the outline is so obliterated that even an old topographical fiend would not recognize its features.

Brighton Beach race track might now be leased to advantage to the New York Yacht Racing Association as it holds plenty of water for a draught of thirty feet cutter.

In spite of the insurrection of the sea, no life has been lost although many were in peril. The first attack of the abnormal surf was made yesterday morning at high tide although since Sunday the flood tide has come higher and higher at each period.

It was high water at Brighton Beach yesterday at 8 A. M. The enormous billows which had grown in height all night then spent themselves almost over the very sills of the Brighton Beach Hotel.

FROM PHILADELPHIA.

The Most Disastrous Storm Reported in Many Years.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—A severe windstorm, accompanied by rain, prevailed in this city and vicinity all day.

Fire alarm, police telegraph and telephone wires were prostrated all over the city and the telegraph lines throughout the state are reported to be in very bad shape.

The damaging storm which prevailed along the Atlantic coast Sunday still continues and the reports received here indicate that the damage to the railroad lines entering Atlantic City, Cape May, Ocean City and other coast resorts is very great. Only a few early trains succeeded in getting through. The meadows near Atlantic City are covered with water, and the tracks are washed away in places.

Early reports of the situation made to-day by railroad officials were that the storm had carried away the telegraph poles, and that the wires were supposed to be down. All communication is cut off with Old Camden. The water in the Atlantic excursion house at Atlantic City is four or five feet high.

The latest reports were that the heavy northeast wind was growing heavier and that there was no sign of a cessation.

Ocean City is almost entirely under water and the Beach road which has floated in every high tide is believed to be an entire wreck on an angle of the sea branch and it was reported that three railroad cars had turned over on their sides and that the passengers had climbed out of the windows unhurt but very disconsolate as they were compelled to make themselves as comfortable as possible on the sides of the cars. This report has not been confirmed but it is believed to be true.

Grave fears are entertained for property at Atlantic City, as well as for the lives of the residents for there would be no way of escape should the condition become more threatening. A railway train cannot get out of the city and it is not likely that anything else could except a boat, and there are not boats enough there to help away one tenth of the people.

The last report received by the Camden & Atlantic railway officials was to the effect that the water was rising. Atlantic City is on low ground and partly on made ground and grave apprehensions are felt for the safety of the people there.

Up to a late hour to-night communication by telegraph had not been had with any point on the coast between Delaware Breakwater and Atlantic City.

At Lewis, Del., the wind had been blowing a gale all day, and late to-night was unabated. The tide was the highest since 1867.

Telegraphic communications with Breakwater was destroyed about nine this morning. Both of the wooden piers have been destroyed. Eleven schooners are ashore.

A special from Cape May to the Inquirer says: The heavy tide last night washed over the beach drive east of the Stockton Hotel and filled the meadows on each side of the city. The wind which increased in force throughout the night, made the tide of this morning the highest for thirteen years. The greatest apprehensions are felt concerning whether it will reach its highest point to-night. The cottage occupied by the widow of the late General Philip Kearney, and the cottages about it, were surrounded by water a foot deep. On Poverty Beach, on which is situated the old Spring Inlet life saving station the waves went right across it, and three times lifted the government station off from the underpinning, and also completely demolished the Cape May & New [illegible] Point railway. The heavy seas on the meadows made an inlet as was expected in the beach just east of the life saving station and now a heavy volume of water is making it deeper every hour.

The waves broke over the veranda flooring of the Mineral Springs hotel, Madison avenue and swept directly into the house. The meadow east of the city is a sea. For miles the country back of the beach and the city is nearly all under water and many of the cottagers in the lower part of town had to abandon the first floors and take to the second. At Cape May Point Coulton hall is undermined and the sea has cut into the whole front of the place from fifty feet to one hundred feet. Heavy seas have wrecked the pier where steamers land and the only mode of travel from Cape May city to the Point is by carriages and wagons through two feet or so of water. Every yacht in the sounds at the different sailing points is shored and several are damaged.

From Bayhead to Garnega City the damage both by the wind and the waves, has been more extended. On the coast near Seaside Park the railroad has been washed away, so that no trains can be run. At noon to-day the telegraph operator had to travel knee deep in the water from the railroad station to reach Morris's grocery store and the people are leaving as fast as they can pack up and get away.

At Berkley a portion of the railroad has been carried away. The people there are alarmed for their safety.

Beach Haven, Barnegat, Long Beach City, Harvey Cedars and other points on Long Beach are inundated and the railway is washed away in many places.

BLOWN OFF A TRAIN AND KILLED.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 10.—Joseph T. Kelly, son of Eugene Kelly, the well known New York banker, was blown off the platform of a car of the 4:50 P. M. train from New York, on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railway, while the train was crossing Newark meadows. He was instantly killed, his head being crushed against a pile of ties. The wind was blowing a gale at the time. Deceased was 25 years old and unmarried.

IN THE VICINITY OF BOSTON.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—A severe northeast gale is reported from along the New England coast, with no signs of abatement. Several steamboats narrowly escaped being driven ashore in the vicinity of Marblehead.

From Chatham it is reported that there is no chance for any boat to come east over Pollock river to-night. No serious damage is reported.

TWO VESSELS ASHORE.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—The worst storm in five years has prevailed off the Delaware breakwater. The tide is very high. The Italian bark Salvatore and the schooner Charles Stickney are ashore.

THE COLORADO DISASTER.

Eleven Men Are Known to Have Perished in the Mine.

DENVER, Sept. 9.—A special courier sent from Denver last night to the scene of the coal mine disaster near Golden, Col., returned to this city at 2 o'clock this morning and gives an account of the accident, placing the number killed at eleven instead of ten.

Following are their names: Johnny Murphy, single; William Collins, married, leaves a wife and four children; Jack Collins, wife and four children; Joseph P. Allen, married, one child; Joseph Butler, married, four children; William Bowden, married; David Joyd, single; John Morgan, single; Henry Huseman, wife and five children; Richard Rowe, and another man whose name was not learned.

The mine is situated one mile from Golden, and produces from fifty to 100 tons of coal per day. The men who lost their lives were at work in the bottom of the shaft, 750 feet down and were eighty feet from the shaft. The drift runs along the side of what is known as the Old Loveland mine.

Yesterday morning there was fifty feet of water in the old shaft. At 6 o'clock last evening it was visited by the manager of the White Ash to determine what connection it might have with a rush of water noticed in the White Ash mine when it was found to be dry, the water having all passed into the shaft where the men were at work.

There is not the slightest hope of rescuing any of the eleven men alive and it will require days, if not weeks of hard work to reach their bodies. All that could be done last night was to make arrangements to start the pumps in the morning.

Around the entrances of the mine are huddled together the wives and orphans of the victims. Occasionally one of them ventures nearer the mine and peers down into the shaft upon the cruel waters that have taken their beloved ones from them. One glance should satisfy them that there is no possible hope of their ever seeing them alive again. However, the mothers continue their prayers while their children keep moving about to keep warm. As the air is coming from down the mountains it is very chilly at this season of the year.

THE MINE IS ON FIRE.

DENVER, Sept. 10.—Couriers who arrived here to-night from Golden report the White Ash mine to be on fire in the 255-foot level which is just above the water's edge in the 730-foot shaft. The mine has been blocked up for the purpose of smothering out the fire and all hopes of recovering the bodies of the eleven drowned miners have been abandoned.

DRIFTING IN AN OPEN BOAT.

The Accident That Befell a Part of Our Navy.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 10.—The Monitor and the Passaic left this morning to take part in a sham attack on Fort McHenry, off Sandy Point. Heavy weather was encountered. The Passaic was towing the steam launch Nuan which had banked its fires. The launch was filling with water from the heavy seas, and an attempt was made to take the launch aboard the ship but the davits would not hold it. The launch filled with water and went down. Seaman Rush was aboard the launch, and was left floating. A whale boat was dispatched after him, and picked him up but the boat was unable to regain the vessel. The last seen of the whale boat it was drifting down the bay. It contained ensigns Dressel, David Moore, Fred Carr, and Seamen Parker and Scott. It is expected that the whaleboat will be picked up at Thomas Point or a point south to-morrow.

THE INDIANS IN THE FAR NORTH.

A Terrible Tale of Suffering Told by a Missionary.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 10.—A Pioneer Press special from Winnipeg says: A terrible tale of suffering in the far North is told by Rev. F. H. Black, a Church of England missionary near Fort Simpson, who has just arrived in this city. Last winter was a very hard one for the Indians owing to the absence of reindeer and the impossibility of hunting moose successfully in the absence of much snow. Ten persons succumbed at Fort Weighley.

Black fears that the mortality during the coming winter will also be great, unless there comes a heavy fall of snow. The distress in the Fort Weighley district was terrible and the suffering intense. At Fort Liard seven died from starvation last winter.

THREE BROTHERS DROWNED.

Two Lost Their Lives in Trying to Save the Other.

MODESTO, Sept. 10.—Christopher, Ollie and George, three sons of C. C. Baker, aged respectively thirteen, eleven and nine were drowned in the Columne river at Baker's ranch this afternoon. Ollie slipped into deep water while bathing and the others tried to rescue him with fatal results. The bodies of Christopher and George have been recovered.

"SUNSET" COX IS DEAD

His Last Convensation Was About the New States.

HIS WIT NEVER FAILED HIM

And Like Mercutio, He Crossed the Dark River With a Jest Upon His Lips—Scenes at the Bedside

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Congressman "Sunset" Cox died at 8:43 o'clock this evening. The end was quiet, and the dying man breathed his last as peacefully as if falling into a light sleep.

Mrs. Cox, who has been scarcely away from his bedside for the past two days and nights, held his left hand, while his old friend, Douglas [illegible], held the other. He had been conscious all day until about a quarter of an hour before the end.

Mr. Cox's last conversation was about the four territories, whose statehood he hoped to [illegible]. He mentioned New Mexico and Arizona, and said something about making a great effort on their behalf at the coming session.

In the afternoon, while Dr. Lockwood was talking to him, Cox made some witty remark which completely upset the doctor's dignity.

Late in the afternoon telegrams were sent to Cox's three sisters, two of whom live in Zanesville, Ohio, and the other in St. Louis.

Cox's nephew, who is superintendent of the Smithsonian Institute, was also telegraphed for.

Dr. Lockwood said that the immediate cause of his death was heart failure, and that the first cause was peritonitis.

Telegrams were sent to Sergeant at Arms of the House of Representatives Leedom and to Speaker Carlisle.

MONTHLY CROP REPORT.

Reliable Statistics Gathered by the Government Authorities

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The September crop report of the department of agriculture makes the general average of corn 91, a reduction of nearly 5 points; winter wheat, when harvested 81.4, a reduction from 92 on the 1st of July; spring wheat 83.9, an increase from 81 in August. This makes the general average of all wheat 87.6.

The general condition of oats is 90, instead of 92.3 last month; rye, 91.6; barley 85.9, instead of 90.4; buckwheat 92.1, instead of 83.2; tobacco [illegible], a reduction from 84.4.

Percentage of stock hogs available for fattening 101, condition 98.

The corn crop is a week late in a large proportion of the Ohio valley and the Lake region. There has been a marked reduction of the condition during the last month from drouth following the heavy rains of early summer. In Ohio and Indiana there was previous injury of bottom land crops by floods.

In Michigan and Wisconsin the effects of the drouth and other influences are most injurious. There is a complaint of drouth west of the Mississippi, too late in the season however for a serious reduction of the crop. West of the Missouri river the conditions have been more favorable than in any other part of the country, and the crop is very large.

In the seven surplus states, the figures on the condition are Ohio, 81, loss 6 points; Indiana, 81, loss 6 points; Illinois, 87, loss 3 points; Iowa, 94, loss 6 points; Missouri, 93, loss 3 points; Kansas, 93; Nebraska 96.

The reduction in winter wheat as compared with the July report is in New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, California, and in some of the Southern states. The quality of the Western grain as shown by its grading is comparatively poor and will affect the weight and intrinsic value. The condition of spring wheat is reported higher than in August in the northern portion of the belt and slightly lower in Iowa and Nebraska.

BASEBALL.

Boston and Indianapolis the League Winners Yesterday.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—The Boston and Chicago clubs were unable to carry out their programme of two games to-day because the first one was extended to thirteen innings and by that time the hour was so late that the second was not commenced. The contest was full of brilliant plays. Score—Boston, 2; Chicago 1. Base hits—Boston 9, Chicago 9. Errors—Boston, 4; Chicago, 2. Batteries—Boston, Radbourne and Bennett; Chicago, Tener and Farrell. Umpire—Powers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The game to-day goes on record as a victory for the visitors. When Washington went to the bat in the eighth inning the score stood 9 to 7 in favor of Indianapolis and at the end of the Senators' half inning the score stood 11 to 9 in their favor. The visitors, after agreeing to have the game called then, refused to put the side out, but the Washington players, according to the rules, put themselves out by running out of line. When the visitors went to the bat the first striker claimed that he could not see the ball, and McQuaid allowed the claim and called the game on account of darkness. His decision so incensed the already excited spectators that several persons attempted to mob the umpire. For a while matters looked serious but several arrests were made and quiet restored. Score—Washington 7, Indianapolis 9. Base hits—Washington 10, Indianapolis, 11. Errors—Washington, 4; Indianapolis, 3. Batteries—Washington, Haddock and Mack; Indianapolis, Rusie and Buckley. Umpire—McQuaid.

[The games at New York and Philadelphia were postponed on account of rain.]

ASSOCIATION GAMES.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10.—Cincinnati 6.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10.—Kansas City 3.

[The other two association games were postponed on account of rain.]

TURF EVENTS.

Races at Albany, Baltimore and Brighton Beach.

ALBANY, Sept. 10.—The attendance at the Grand park races to-day was large.

The event of the day was the Hotel handicap, steeple chase. In this race the famous horse, Bourke Cochran, fell at the water jump, breaking both forelegs below the knee and had to be shot, thus ending the career of what was once the best steeple chaser in the country.

2:30 class, purse $750—Lady Bullion won, Penal second, Kilcurey third, Newton B. fourth; best time 2:21¾.

THE NEW MEXICO CONVENTION.

The Woman Suffrage Clause Not Permitted To Be Incorporated.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 10.—The Republican's Santa Fe special says: In the state constitutional convention the majority refused to permit the incorporation of the woman suffrage clause in the article relating to the electoral franchise, whereupon the handful of the right-of-woman-to-vote men undertook to deny final action on the article. Those in favor of withholding suffrage from all persons who shall engage in prize fighting also made a vigorous contest to incorporate their views in the article, but the report of the committee as amended was adopted without those additions.

The committees on legislative affairs, corporations, taxation and the bill of rights also made up their reports, which were calendared to come up in regular order.

The entire forenoon was consumed in acting upon the report of the executive affairs committee.

UNION PACIFIC PLANS.

Mr. Kemble Says the Northwest is a Great Country

AND WILL BEAR DEVELOPMENT

Talk of the Extension of Donahue's Road to a Transcontinental Connection in This State.

OMAHA Sept 10—General Manager Kemble of the Union Pacific was asked to-day if there was any truth in the report that his road proposed building from Frisco, Utah, to a junction with the Southern Pacific at Mojave.

"We are thinking very strongly of extending our Utah Central line further south, in order to tap the Pioche mining district," said he, "but we will probably go south of a direct line from Frisco to Mojave, and the extension will be very gradual. I don't know exactly how soon work will commence. President Adams, who has been making a detailed inspection of the road will be back in about ten days and we will then form definite plans. Our chief energies however will be concentrated in Oregon and Washington, and we will make a great many miles of new road there in the next few years."

General Passenger Agent Lomax was also seen. He stated that the policy of the road at present was to extend lines in Oregon and Washington. "That is a grand country," said he, "and besides there is no money for us in trying to oppose the Southern Pacific Company in California."

THE PACIFIC SHORT LINE.

BOSTON Sept 10.—Union Pacific people here say they have no knowledge of any propositions on the part of their company for the control of the so-called Pacific Short Line. The road is pronounced a scheme of certain Sioux City people and a New York syndicate. Recently they claimed to have raised $6,000,000 and had 150 miles of road to build. Since they have announced that they have secured the whole amount. Union Pacific officials here do not give much credence to the story of propositions for its purchase.

COLONEL DONAHUE'S PLANS.

A Belief That He Will Extend His Road Into Oregon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10—There is being some speculation done here just now as to whether Colonel J Mervyn Donahue, president of the San Francisco & North Pacific railway intends extending his line north to Crescent City, Del Norte county. A prominent resident of Crescent City had a conversation with Colonel Donahue recently, in which the Colonel suggested that the San Francisco & North Pacific railway would be built eventually to Crescent City.

"If he builds to Crescent City," said a well known railroad contractor, "you may be assured he will build beyond. He would have a good road, to be sure, but by building a hundred or so miles further north, he can quadruplex his income."

"In what way?" was asked.

"Why by making his road a branch of the great Northern transcontinental line, or if not a branch an adjunct. Donahue is looking to the Northern Pacific now, and I think his plan is plain. He will continue his road from Ukiah along the coast to Eureka and Crescent City. Crossing the state line he will pass on and will stop at Yaquina bay. From what I have heard I am satisfied that it is true. Colonel Donahue has never denied that he would like to make a connection between his road and some transcontinental line. It would be, so to speak, millions in his pocket. Besides that, he has practically the only inlet to San Francisco for a transcontinental line."

THE SEATTLE & EASTERN.

Work To Be Pushed on the Northern Extension.

SEATTLE, Sept. 10.—The contract was let to-day for grading and bridging five miles of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern railway's northern extension, beginning at a point twenty miles north of Snohomish. Rails will be laid as soon as the grading is completed. Advantage will be taken of good weather this fall, and work will continue as far into the winter as possible so that connection may be made with the Canadian Pacific next spring. Of eighty five miles of road to be built sixty five are level and present no difficulty to engineers.

FROM VICTORIA.

Two Russian Men-of-War Cruising in Behring Sea.

VICTORIA B. C. Sept. 9—The schooner Kate has arrived from Behring sea, with seven hundred seal skins and one hundred barrels of oil from the west coast of the island. Not a thing of importance had transpired on the voyage.

A correspondent interviewed Captain Folger of the sealer Penelope last night. He is the man mentioned in the Examiner's dispatch as interested in a contemplated raid on Seal islands. He says there is nothing in it. He was approached by parties on the subject, but refused to have anything to do with it. He informed the correspondent that a couple of Russian men of war have been cruising through the waters of Behring sea claimed by Americans this season, presumably watching events.

THE TACOMA MYSTERY.

A Growing Belief That the Woman Committed Suicide.

TACOMA, Sept 10—The mystery in the Dickenson Clarke murder and attempted suicide thickens. Dr Smith, who examined the unfortunate woman, states positively that she committed suicide.

No external marks show the entrance of the bullet, and the teeth are uninjured. The bullet entered the tip of the tongue as if the muzzle had been taken between the teeth and the pistol fired.

Clarke is still too weak to be removed to jail or be interviewed, and it is thought the poison has affected his spine and paralyzed him. Many think Clarke innocent of the crime, and if the woman was murdered, that the switchman Weems is the murderer. He was seen quarreling with her at the foot of the stairs before going up to the room.

STRIKE AT CARBONADO.

The Single Men Will Not Permit the Married Men to Work.

TACOMA, W T, Sept. 10—D T Davies, superintendent of the Southern Pacific coal mines at Carbonado was in town to-day. His men have struck. Mr Davies says that when he was down in San Francisco a few days ago he received orders to shut the mine down for ninety days, on account of the glut in the coal market there. On his return he told the men the determination arrived at, and offered to all the married men employment till the mines opened up at three dollars a day, but told the single men they would have to shift for themselves. The men held a meeting, when by a small majority, they decided not to go to work. Some of the married men went to work, but were intimidated by the others and quit yesterday. Mr Davies says he will protect all the men who desire to work, and that his offer of three dollars a day until the mines are opened up will not be withdrawn.

He was supposed to be dead Sunday night and was laid out but surprised every one by coming to and asking for soup.

Fred Madison of Lane county, was brought to the insane asylum to-day. He is about [illegible] years of age, and this is his first attack. Cause melancholy.

A young man named O B Hoggatt, 21 years old, fell from a scaffold in the new brick block this morning and suffered concussion of the brain this morning. He fell nine feet striking on a floor joist cutting a gash three inches long in the back of his head, clear to the bone but not fracturing the skull. He has lain unconscious all day and the physicians are uncertain of results. He came from Henry county, Iowa last April, where his parents reside. He was an exemplary young man and the accident was the result of dizziness. He had emptied his wheelbarrow of brick and straightened himself up when he reeled and fell backwards. Good care is being taken of him.

The state board of asylum commissioners to-day purchased 320 acres more land for the use of the asylum, alongside the 320 acres recently purchased a few miles south east of this city. They paid $13,600 for it, making $26,600 for the whole 640 acres, which is considered very cheap as the land purchased is called very desirable property.

Adjutant General Sherman of the G A R of this city is about to establish a post of the Grand Army at Kerbyville, Josephine county.

Marshal Ross issued an order this afternoon to a lot of tin horn gamblers to leave the city before 9 o'clock to-morrow.

DESPERATE CHARACTERS.

The Country Around Tacoma Swarming With Vagabonds.

TACOMA W T, Sept. 10—Sheriff Price has received a large addition to his boarders in the persons of fourteen desperate characters who had assembled at Puyallup for the purpose of preying on the hop pickers in the valley. The sheriff has about a hundred deputies at various points along the river looking after the desperadoes who have been committing burglaries and robberies for the past few weeks. They are supposed to have been run out of Seattle recently. The men had been caught by some of the deputies and committed by a Puyallup justice for sixty days as vagrants. On being searched every one was found to have some kind of dangerous weapon, slungshots and sandbags being favorites. The sheriff expects ten more to-morrow and says he will make their imprisonment as unpleasant as possible so they will not want to come back to this county.

AN OLD SCOUNDREL.

He Basely Betrays the Hospitality of a Tacoma Man.

TACOMA, Sept 10—Last night a 60-year-old man named C Buckman applied to a fisherman near the Pacific mill for shelter during the night alleging that he was sick. Peterson who knew the man gave him shelter, but was awakened in the night by the screams of his 9 year old daughter who alleged that Buckman was taking improper liberties with her. Peterson at once put him out but Buckman returned and again begged for shelter and stated that he had done nothing wrong, but being cold he had got into bed with the girl to get warm.

Peterson again admitted him and was soon after awakened by the cries of a 10-year-old daughter and getting up, found Buckman in the act of trying to commit rape. He kicked him out of the cabin and came to town and made complaint before Justice Patrick, who at once sent an officer to arrest Buckman, who, however is still at large.

A Case in Admiralty.

TACOMA, Sept. 10—A case in admiralty of some importance has been before Judge Allyn for the past two days. The bark Zoila was loading at the Pacific mill, and a dispute arose which ended in the vessel not being loaded during her lay days. The mill company allege that the captain refused to load except at certain stages of the tide, and that he had employed an incompetent stevedore. The captain denied these allegations and when his lay days were up demanded his demurrage daily before he would take any lumber. This went on several days, the mill company refusing to pay the demurrage and finally the captain threatened to go to sea with a partial cargo. The company thereupon libeled the vessel. The cases came up before Judge Allyn and were decided to-day. The libel was dismissed and the costs divided between the two parties, and the captain was awarded $150 damages.

The Democrats Are Hopeful of Dividing the Honors.

SPECULATION FACT AND FANCY

Railroad Prospects in Central Washington—The Views of an Engineer Who Is Familiar With the Country

NORTH YAKIMA W T, Sept. 10.—"How will the two conventions compare," asked a friend shortly after I stepped off the train at this place this afternoon. I knew he was neither a democrat or a republican, but was not certain which and as I am not a candidate for office, I said to him: "It was the best democratic convention of many that I have attended. There was a noted absence of the tough element and things went along just as smoothly as they did at Walla Walla. There were many things that were similar to some of the maneuvers in the republican convention, but after the nominations were made the faithful fell into line as they always do and no grumbling was heard. Had Wilcox the popular mayor of [illegible] a republican city with [illegible] been nominated for congress [illegible] the whole complexion of the ticket and [illegible] of Columbia county [illegible] leading the [illegible] to defeat instead of the genial ex-Governor Eugene Semple. Where Tom Griffitts would have come in I do not know but [illegible] the railroad builder and [illegible] operator [illegible] would have been the candidate for lieutenant governor.

Gilman the railroad capitalist by the way together with Griffitts the lawyer who favors woman suffrage built the platform which denounces trusts, corporations and other things and appeals to the poor and honest voter to smite republicanism hip and thigh. It will not be smote. As old Thad Stevens was wont to say, 'The people are not fools.'

The majority of the voters of the new state are republicans and they are smart enough to know that the fellows who howled loudest about trusts and corporations are up to their armpits in that kind of dough. It makes a fellow laugh to hear a certain orator denounce the republicans for living off the issues of the war which saved the Union twenty three years ago, and in the same breath extolling the principles of Thomas Jefferson who died sixty-two years ago. Democracy ought to get on to something fresher or nearer to date—something for instance like the political assassination of Clayton in Arkansas or John L. Sullivan running for congress on their ticket.

The oratory of the democratic convention just closed was fully up to that exhibited at Walla Walla but two of the speeches were flavored with lapsus linguae which I suppose come from the rapidity of thought of the speakers rather than from ignorance of the subject. James Hamilton Lewis the Seattle orator spoke of the deadly exhalations of the eucalyptus tree instead of the upas, and Tom Griffitts referred to beautiful Ellensburgh, rising from its ashes sphynx like. Ellensburgh is rising but not that way. The patronizing comment heard on all sides relative to Colonel Lewis's speech was 'Dude Lewis is a dandy.' He is without doubt the Beau Brummel of democratic society in this part of the country.

HOW WILL THEY RUN.

"Will Semple make a good running vote in the county?" I asked of a sound democrat from Seattle.

"Yes" was the reply, "and he will make a surprising run in the territory because all the woman suffrage advocates of both parties will vote for him. The miners of King county will also go for him. He is the strongest candidate the democracy could have nominated. He gets around among the people."

"What show will Griffitts for congress have with John L. Wilson?" I asked.

"That reminds me of what a young republican friend told me to-day," he replied. "He saw John L. Wilson after his nomination at Walla Walla and John said 'Now if the democrats will only nominate Tom Griffitts I will be satisfied because I will trail him in the dust all over the territory.' When my friend arrived here Tom Griffitts said to him: 'If they nominate me for congress against John L. Wilson I will be satisfied. I will beat him so badly that he will never know what hurt him.' Griffitts boasted in his speech that he would carry Spokane county against his competitor. But Oh vain boast."

"How about the judges?"

"Oh, well we expect to squeeze in one or two of our men against Judges Stiles and Hoyt, possibly Sharpstein and White. Judge Reavis will also make a good run."

ELLENSBURGH AND NORTH YAKIMA.

The Ellensburgh people hospitably entertained those at their houses who were unable to get rooms at the Horton house, the only hotel in town. The weather was decidedly disagreeable and the place did not make a lasting impression upon those who had never been there before. It was cold and breezy.

I read a paragraph in the Ellensburgh State Register which caused a smile to the effect that Ben F Snipes, the banker, had just come up from North Yakima and stated that the wind was blowing a gale there and the streets were so dusty that one could not see across them. Those who had been at the latter place the day before knew to the contrary but I suppose everything goes in a contest for the state capital.

RAILROAD PROBABILITIES.

I had an interesting talk in Ellensburgh with Captain J T Kingsbury one of the democratic delegates from North Yakima to the convention. He was an old and efficient engineer of the Northern Pacific, and I asked him how the railroad problem was going to be solved, with respect to Ellensburgh and North Yakima. He said:

"Both towns are about thirty miles due west of the Columbia river. East of Ellensburgh, which is 1500 feet above the level of the sea, is Johnson's canyon. This canyon is 2100 feet above the level of the sea, and it is about twenty-one miles from Ellensburgh before you strike its summit to go down to the Columbia river. From its summit you have but eight or nine miles distance but it is 1900 feet down which would give you a grade of about 240 feet to the mile and the highest standard grade in this country on a through line like the Northern Pacific is 126 feet which is in getting up and down the Cascades. The Union Pacific is allowed 116 feet grade to the mile, the Central Pacific grade over the Sierra Nevadas is 116 feet, the Pennsylvania railroad over the Alleghenies is also 116 feet and the Southern Pacific grade over the Tehuantepec mountains the same. There are heavier grades than these on short branches of railways running into mines and other places, but no large line is operated with a heavier grade than 126 feet to the mile."

"Then you think it impracticable to build a railroad to the Columbia from Ellensburgh?"

"It is almost impossible but it can be built with great expense. The true course is through the Moxee pass from Yakima. After crossing it going eastward, a turn in the Columbia river is met which gives a chance to get down to the river by a fifty mile route with a seventy five feet grade to the mile. After crossing the Columbia there is no trouble in going eastward with the road. A glance at the map will show what I mean. There is also a fine route sixty miles southward from Yakima by the Cowlitz pass and this is the route taken by the Vancouver Klickitat & Yakima road where large quantities of fine coal have lately been found. I have surveyed and engineered on those routes, and know what I am talking about."

"How much lower is the altitude of Yakima than Ellensburgh?" I asked.

"About 600 feet," was the reply.

Hence the warmer breezes in the Yakima valley.

INDIANS IN TOWN.

I saw a pleasing sight here on Sunday. Fully 500 Yakima Indians, in all the paraphernalia of red paint, red blankets and holiday attire, were in town from the reservation with their horses. Old men women and children young bucks and papooses formed the motley looking crowd. The horses were picketed in the various alleys and the noble red men and women and their children, were squatted around on the broad sidewalks, cellar doors, curb stones, door ways and vacant lots. Every street formed a picture for a photographer. Bancroft tells of a gathering of 10,000 Indians, but a few hundred yards from this place, about a century ago. The Yakimas are good looking Indians and many of them are well off.

One of the familiar figures at the Walla Walla convention from Thurston county who passed through here yesterday was Colonel Owings, the veteran ex secretary of the territory who served on the staffs of both Generals Grant and Sherman during the war of the rebellion. He is a candidate for state senator and will be elected. Nick, as he is familiarly called by his closest friends, does not believe there is any other place in the new state for the capital but Olympia. The other day he received a letter from his old commander, General Sherman who spoke of Puget sound as the coming great seat of wealth, power and influence in the United States and referred facetiously to the big clams he had seen there, and how his friends would scarcely believe him. Nick promptly got one of his constituents to get him a specimen twelve-pound clam, put it in alcohol, and sent it to General Sherman. He has acknowledged its receipt, and when his word is doubted about Puget sound clams he shows up the jar. C M B

One body was found on a lumber pile headless and crushed and has not been identified. Charles Anderson a Contra Costa laundry employe was [illegible] out of all resemblance to human shape. A man named Daly who was in the engine room is missing. John Dolan was blown out of the building but was not injured.

As soon as it was apparent that lives had been lost by the disaster the coroner was telephoned for and with his deputies commenced a search among the ruins. The body of Charles Anderson was discovered by a foot [illegible] protruding from a pile of bricks. Crowbars and picks had to be used to extract the body. One side of his skull was crushed completely, the ear on the opposite side was torn off and the arms and legs were crushed out of all semblance of human form.

Emanuel Frances a young man of about 18 years was found two hundred feet away outside the engine room lying on top of a lumber [illegible] mangled and bleeding mass [illegible] features being hardly recognizable. One arm and a leg were missing.

On another lumber pile was found the trunk of another man, head crushed in. His head was picked up [illegible] house [illegible] which was found lodged between [illegible] of moulding. This body has not been identified.

An arm was found three hundred feet away in a Chinese vegetable garden, and legs and arms were found buried in the debris.

In another direction a dog belonging to a railroad employe was seen gnawing at an ankle bone and a portion of the calf of a leg attached. He was captured and the piece added to the sickening pile in the yard. This last body is horribly mutilated and recognition is almost impossible.

Around the coroner's office to-night a throng had gathered and the aid of the police was invoked to clear the streets. Weeping women anxiously inquired for their husbands and children for the fathers but none of those on the slabs proved to be the ones sought for.

WHO IS HENRY NEUSTADT?

An Alleged Portlander Deserted by His Wife

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 10—The Examiner's New York special says Henry Neustadt of Neustadt & Hausmann of Portland, Or, passed a very gloomy Sunday in New York. He had come across the continent for the purpose of finding his wife and endeavoring to prevail upon her to return to her home in Portland.

Sometime ago Mrs Neustadt left Portland and went to San Francisco where it is said she led a rather gay life for a while. She became acquainted with a very accommodating lady and the two journeyed here together. On arriving here this lady insisted that Mrs Neustadt must come with her and pay her a visit. She had friends and social circle, into which she should be speedily introduced.

After finding out the whereabouts of his wife Neustadt endeavored to get her to return with him, but it is said that in spite of the fact that he is willing to forgive and is endeavoring with the aid of his friends to induce her to return with him she has refused and seems entirely independent and bent on living her own life and having her own way.

ANOTHER STAGE ROBBERY.

The Sixth Appearance of Highwaymen at One Point.

OROVILLE, Cal, Sept 10—The stage from Oroville to Quincy was robbed this afternoon in Bidwell canyon seven miles east of here. The express box was taken and two male passengers were relieved of their coin. The ladies were not molested. It is not believed that the robber secured much from the express box. This makes six times the stage has been held up here.

There were two ladies and two men passengers. Holding up [illegible] one of the robbers. The driver pulled up as he saw they had the drop on him. "Get down." This to the passengers.

He looked at James Snowden's watch. "I will not take it," said the robber, "you want that more than I do."

Snowden had $20 in gold and $2 in silver. "I have been sick all summer, and it is pretty rough to take it," said Snowden. "Well," said the robber pocketing the coin and taking Wells Fargo's box, "if we get anything out of the box we will divide with you."

Murdered by an Unknown Man

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 10—To-night about 10 o'clock Captain Duncan Logan who has been for many years in charge of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Broadway wharf, was shot and killed by an unknown man. Logan was in the saloon of Jean Labat corner Powell and Broadway streets when a stranger, pistol in hand, entered, and ordered the proprietor into a rear room following after. As he passed Logan the latter grappled with him, and two shots were fired neither taking effect. The man then broke away and ran from the saloon Logan following. The man turned and fired another shot, the bullet striking Logan near the heart, causing instant death. The shooter escaped.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES.

Another Horrible Crime in the Whitechapel District.

THE GREAT STRIKE CONTINUES

Cardinal Manning's Arbitration Will Probably Fail—America Sends Sympathy but No Money—The Antwerp Horror.

LONDON, Sept 10—At 5:30 this morning the police found the body of a female woman lying at the corner of the railway arch on Cable street, Whitechapel. An examination of the remains showed that the head and arms had been cut off and carried away, the stomach ripped open and [illegible] found.

A corps of police was instantly summoned to the spot, but no arrest, up to 8 A. M., had been made.

Policemen pass the spot every fifteen minutes. Those on duty last night say they saw nothing suspicious. The physicians who examined the body say that in their opinion the murder and mutilation occupied nearly an hour. It is surmised that the murderer carried off the head and arms in a bag.

The murder is the worst of the whole series of Whitechapel murders.

The manner in which the limbs were severed from the body shows that the murderer possessed some surgical skill. The woman was about 30 years old. Her clothing was shabby and she was evidently a great drinker. The remains have not been identified.

The most intense excitement prevails in Whitechapel. Crowds surrounded the mortuary in which the body lies.

NOON—Later details show that there is no blood on the ground where the body was found nor on the body. From this it is evident that the murder was committed in some other place and the body subsequently deposited under the railroad arch.

The trunk was nude and a torn and bloody chemise was found near the body. The arms are intact but the legs are missing. It is believed the woman has been dead for two days.

NO MONEY FROM AMERICA.

Plenty of Sympathy and Sentiment but No Cash for the London Strikers.

LONDON, Sept 10—A meeting of the striking workmen was held at Tower hill to-day.

Tillett one of the leaders said he believed the mediation of Cardinal Manning would result in an early settlement.

John Burns said the workmen of America had forwarded sentiment and sympathy enough to circle the globe, but not a single cent to relieve the wants of their fellow workmen. He was ashamed of the organized workmen of America. The people of Melbourne have sent £1000 to the London strikers.

Cardinal Manning's proposal, which is being considered by the council of the strike committee, is a compromise to the effect that the terms which the dock companies have already conceded are to go into operation on the 1st of November, provided the men immediately resume work.

Owens at a mass meeting of the strikers to-day asked the men whether they would accept the proposal for an increase of wages to begin on the 1st of November. The strikers unanimously opposed the proposition.

The directors of the dock companies resolve to adhere to the terms recently agreed to by them by which the wage of the men are to be advanced on the 1st of January.

Owens, at to-night's conference with Cardinal Manning affirmed that the temper of the strikers was such that it would be futile to urge the November compromise.

The persistence of the strikers increases with the swelling of the tide of subscriptions. The home contributions are slightly falling off but a stream continues to pour in funds. To-day £1100 was received, making a total from Australia of £[illegible] 000. [illegible] relief [illegible] is increasing. The result is that many of the dock men are better off in idleness than when working. Foremost among the agencies of relief is the Salvation Army which provides food for 5070 persons daily at a nominal price.

In the meantime in spite of the strikers the pickets of the companies are gradually replenishing their working forces. The congestion of the river trade is becoming relieved by the wharfingers who are acceding to the men's terms. A number of vessels are leaving the docks and going to the wharves to unload. The wharves present almost their wonted aspect prior to the strike.

Addressing a second meeting of the strikers, Burns again assailed the American workmen for the failure to contribute money and aid for the strikers.

THE ANTWERP FIRE.

A Charge of Homicide Brought Against the Owner of the Factory.

ANTWERP, Sept 10—It is estimated that the losses by the recent fire ranges from [illegible] 000,000 to 5,000,000 francs. The fire still smoulders over a large area which is surrounded by a cordon of troops. The firemen are working day and night pouring floods of water upon the ruins. Ten persons who ventured too near the ruins have met with accidents due to the occasional explosion of cartridges.

Corvilain the proprietor of the cartridge factory is charged with homicide by imprudence. His defense is that the fire originated in the petroleum sheds and was caused by an explosion in the cartridge factory.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

Patients who have wasted large sums of money and spent years in drugging themselves with medicine without getting relief, should apply to the Drs Darrin and try electric treatment, as it is fundamentally different from all other methods. Instead of an internal remedy, whose action cannot be observed it is an external one, applied directly to the parts affected, its beneficial effects are evident from the first. Patients who for the simple reason that nostrums swallowed indiscriminately have failed to benefit them, decide to continue a sufferer in the face of the numerous striking cures performed by electricity in cases pronounced incurable, do so in opposition to the dictates of reason and common sense. Very generally, it is only when other means have failed, that patients are induced to try electricity. Frequently sufferers who claim to have spent all their money in paying for drugs, apply for treatment, offering to pay when cured, or make some other similar proposition, which they would never think of making to their family physician. In these cases the doctors are expected not only to do what the ordinary physician has failed to do, but also to undo the evil effects of the drugs taken into the system for years, and all this in view of a contingency which itself is made to depend upon the veracity of the patient. Such propositions are totally inadmissible and are a mere waste of time and paper. Electricity when properly applied, may be of great service and those who have not tried it have still to learn the remarkable therapeutic effect of this agency. Then those whose diseases have been aggravated and to whom life has become a burden through the swallowing of drugs should read carefully and candidly consider the numerous testimonials of cures which we publish, and reflect whether it is the part of wisdom to continue to be a sufferer when a certain means of cure is within grasp. There is not a pathological condition of the system in which electricity has not asserted its power as a curative and restorative agent, and until electricity is fairly tested there is no disease which can correctly be pronounced incurable.

Cures Performed by Electricity as Given by Drs. Darrin.

E J Hynes, Albina—Catarrhal deafness, restored.

P C McFarlane, Vancouver—Sciatica rheumatism, cured.

G G C Scotten, Albina, Oregon—Ringing noises in the ear and deafness cured.

C McLaughlin, corner of Nineteenth and Jefferson streets, Portland—Catarrhal deafness, could scarcely hear a sound or the car bells and was in constant fear of being run over by wagons, cured so he can hear ordinary conversation.

Ley Bartmes, Stayton, Or—Heart disease, dyspepsia, pain through the heart and lungs, and general nervous debility, many times he would fall as though dead, when everything seemed to turn black before his eyes; successfully treated.

D Campbell, Fulton, Or, says he would not take $10,000 for the cure he received by Dr Darrin. His trouble originated by three small lumps or tumors coming on the arm, which rendered his arm and hand perfectly helpless for one year.

Drs Darrin's Place of Business.

Drs Darrin can be consulted free at 235 Fifth street corner of Main, Portland. Office hours, from 10 to 4 o'clock daily; evenings, 7 to 8, Sundays, 10 to 12. All curable chronic diseases, loss of manhood, blood taints, syphilis, gleet, gonorrhoea, stricture, spermatorrhoea, seminal weakness, or loss of desire of sexual power, in man or woman, catarrh and deafness, are confidentially and successfully treated. Cures of private diseases guaranteed, and never published in the papers. Most cases can receive home treatment after a visit to the doctors' office. Inquiries answered and circulars sent free.

CHOOSING THE LEAD

A Detailed Report of the Democratic Nominations.

IT WAS ALL PLAIN SAIL

Most of the Candidates Were Chosen by Acclamation—The Nominating Speeches—Other Proceedings.

ELLENSBURGH, W T, Sept 10—Following is a detailed report of last night's proceedings of the democratic convention. The telegraph company [illegible] for publication on [illegible].

The convention [illegible] up from [illegible] the Tacoma [illegible] Georgia [illegible] Yankee Doodle [illegible] which the [illegible] loudly applauded. Then Chairman [illegible] called [illegible] and asked for the report of the committee on platform.

Whitcomb King said the secretary was [illegible] a while and the [illegible] changed off into an orchestra, and [illegible] with his violin, led them in a [illegible] concert. The Ellensburgh band, not to be [illegible], took their turn for the next half hour. It was a [illegible] musical rivalry. It was a [illegible] convention, and in the judgment of newspaper men at least a great improvement over the ordinary custom of filling up the time with political speeches. It was vastly more agreeable to listen to notes than to make them.

But the old habit was too strong and at once calls for Potter, that gentleman [illegible] overcoat and came forward. He thanked [illegible] for their flattering attention and declared the political auspices were favorable. [illegible] before him men whose lives had been spent fighting for democratic principles and he believed they would nominate men here who would carry the democratic party to victory and the monopolies combines and trusts who [illegible] arraigned against them who would [illegible] new state of Washington in the democratic column and endorse that grand and noble democrat, Grover Cleveland. [Applause.]

The Tacoma band played another selection when Pell was called for. He had just come [illegible] preaching democratic doctrines in England [illegible] this was his country and he was glad to be here again. The republican party was the party of centralization and the democratic party was the party of the people. Labor alone produced riches. Men had been made rich by legislation. [Applause.] Jay Gould and he were [illegible] richest men in the world. [illegible] one hundred million and he had $[illegible]. When Rome fell 1800 men owned pretty much all the earth, and to-day in this country 10 per cent of the people owned 60 per cent of the [illegible]. The country had been robbed to adorn the [illegible] and the laboring men who earned it are tramps in the land. And so on through [illegible] to show that the republican party [illegible] the people and the democratic party would [illegible] it all. It was very pretty and flowery and applauded, especially a reference to the republican politicians with No. 6 hats and [illegible] mouths who were in their mammas laps when we were fighting in the war.

Then it was the Ellensburgh band's turn and they played something.

Mundy, of Clarke presented the report of the committee on platform. The report was adopted by a very weak but still a unanimous vote, inasmuch as no one said "no."

The chair asked if the state central committee had appointed an executive committee.

Marion said the committee had adjourned until the nominations should be made, and then the executive committee would be selected.

NOMINATIONS.

Griffitts of Spokane Has a Walk Over for Congress.

The next order of business was the nomination of a representative to congress.

Rochester said King county had a member of the convention whom he was commissioned to deliver. [illegible] ask the nomination as a favor to a son whom you had honored as permanent chairman, but she asks to nominate men every one of whom was a platform in himself. [Applause.] She [illegible] such men no matter what part of the state they come from. She also bids me say that when her Queen City was in ashes the [illegible] of Tacoma came forward in all of the nobility of character and furnished [illegible] to her destitute people not with [illegible] and wishes to express gratitude [illegible] at your hands the [illegible] of a man of Pierce county. [illegible] sent to hear that [illegible] Samuel [illegible] Wheelwright. [Applause.]

McClure of Spokane came before the convention to name the first congressman from the democratic state of Washington. With [illegible] single laurel from the chaplet [illegible] by the gentleman last named, he said [illegible] the convention that Spokane had a man notable for charity, genius, ability and democracy and whose peer at the bar was not found in the state. He closed [illegible] Thomas Clinton Griffitts of Spokane.

Wallace of Tacoma, in behalf of the [illegible] county delegation said they were friends of Mayor Wheelwright. They had already elevated him to the highest [illegible] gift, and was proud of it. They [illegible] their best and work for him if he was a candidate, but he was not a candidate for [illegible] and he believed the use of his name [illegible] authorized. The Tacoma delegation [illegible] the strongest man to be nominated and believed that man to be Mr Griffitts. [illegible] lose their right arm before deserting [illegible] would stay with him as long as his name [illegible] before the convention. [Applause.]

Shaw of Clarke thought well of Wheelwright but believed his people wanted Griffitts and seconded that nomination.

Elmore of King county said he could not [illegible] eloquently as the gentleman who [illegible] him, but he had seen Wheelwright before he left Tacoma and he [illegible] this convention was pleased to nominate him he would do his best to run.

Wallace said the chairman of the Pierce delegation (Kaufman) had a letter from Wheelwright saying [illegible] his name [illegible].

In response to loud cries of [illegible] Mr Kaufman said he had lost it, and the convention very audibly smiled.

There were no other nominations and nominations were declared closed.

Sharpstein moved adjournment until [illegible] morning in order to ascertain whether Wheelwright was really a candidate, but [illegible] failed.

The roll of counties was called and [illegible] received the nomination by the following [illegible]:

During the call Lincoln was [illegible] but Sharpstein moved that [illegible] be suspended until Lincoln [illegible] motion failed and the roll call proceeded. At the close [illegible] changed the vote of [illegible] Wheelwright [illegible] Griffitts and [illegible] Wheelwright as a candidate [illegible].

White moved that the nomination be made unanimous and it was so done.

On motion of Wallace, the chair appointed Wallace and [illegible] to escort Griffitts to the platform and the chairman introduced the first democratic congressman from the state of Washington.

Griffitts said that with all the feeling of which he was capable he returned his thanks for the confidence with which he had been honored.

CHOOSING THE LEADERS

A Detailed Report of the Democratic Nominations.

IT WAS ALL PLAIN SAILING

The Candidates Were Chosen by Acclamation—The Nominating Speeches—Other Proceedings

... W T Sept 10.—Following is a ... of ... proceedings of the ... convention the telegraph could not ... for publication on Tuesday.

It was a novelty in a ... and in the judgment of the ... at least a great improvement ... custom of filling up the time ... speeches. It was vastly more agree... than to make them.

He had just been preach... doctrines in England, but then ... country and he was glad to be back ... republican party was the party of ... and the democratic party was the ... people. Labor alone produced ... had been made rich by legislation ... Jay Gould and he were two of the ... in the world. Gould had ... million and he had $2.75. NOMINATIONS.

Griffitts of Spokane Has a Walk Over for Congress.

The next order of business was the nomination of a representative to congress.

Rochester said King county had a message for the convention which he was commissioned to deliver. She might ask the nomination of her favorite son whom you had honored by electing as permanent chairman, but she asked you to ... every one of whom would be a ... [Applause.] She will sup... no matter what part of the state the ... comes. She also bids me say to you ... her Queen City was in ashes the city ... came forward in all of the grandeur of ... and furnished food, cloth... to her destitute people. She is ... with gratitude and wishes to return that ... by asking at your hands the nomination ... man of Pierce county, one whom Pierce ... to bear that relief to her—a good dem... Adams Wheelwright, of Tacoma. [Applause.]

... of Spokane came before the convention ... the first congressman from the new dem... state of Washington. Without stealing a ... laurel from the chaplet so worthily worn by the gentleman last named, he still reminded the convention that Spokane had a son equally noted for charity, genius, ability and democracy and whose peer at the bar was not to be found in the state. He closed by nominating Thomas Clinton Griffitts of Spokane.

... of Tacoma, in behalf of the Pierce county delegation, said they were all staunch friends of Mayor Wheelwright. Tacoma had already elevated him to the highest honor in her gift and was proud of it. They would take off their coats and work for him if he was a candidate, but he was not a candidate for this office ... believed the use of his name was un... The Tacoma delegation only wanted ... man to be nominated and they be... that man to be Mr Griffitts and would ... right arm before deserting him, and ... stay with him as long as his name was be... convention. [Applause.]

... of Clarke thought well of Wheelwright ... his people wanted Griffitts and he ... that nomination.

... of King county said he couldn't talk as eloquently as the gentleman who had preceded him, but he had seen Wheelwright two hours before he left Tacoma and he had said that if the convention was pleased to nominate him he would do his best to run.

... the chairman of the Pierce county delegation (Kaufman) had a letter from Wheelwright saying that his name must not be used. In response to loud cries of "Read the letter," Mr Kaufman said he had lost it, and the convention very audibly smiled.

There were no other nominations and the nominations were declared closed.

Sharpstein moved adjournment until to-morrow morning in order to ascertain whether Wheelwright was really a candidate, but that motion failed.

The roll of counties was called and Griffitts received the nomination by the following vote:

Pending the call, Lincoln was passed for a moment, but Sharpstein moved that the roll call be suspended until Lincoln should vote, but the motion failed, and the roll call proceeded. At the close Rochester changed the vote of King to eighteen for Griffitts and withdrew Wheelwright as a candidate.

White moved that the nomination be made unanimous and it was so done.

On motion of Wallace the chair appointed Wallace and Platter to escort Griffitts to the platform and the chairman introduced the "future democratic congressman from the state of Washington."

Griffitts said that with all the feeling of which he was capable he returned his thanks for the confidence with which he had been honored. He had some trepidation for the result so far as his ... were concerned, but no trepidation ... whatever ... the final result. The state would ... be admitted to the Union ... one of the proudest stat... on the Pacific coast. He referred to the motto ... all once more and congratulated the convention for the fact that ... required organ... had united this state aside by two demo... and Voorhees—and ... a democratic president ... would again grace the presidential chair ... in a few years. [Applause.] He referred ... the ... plank of the republican platform and thought Wilson would have a hard job to explain what the republican party had done towards the admission of Washington as a state. He endorsed the platform ... here this evening and promised to tell ... more of his views about ... their own ... before the end of the next fifteen days was over. He did ... however ... the people would take away from the democratic party the control of the new state. From this on until election day ... he could for victory and ... good ... strength, and the people gave ... he would win, and in Spokane he thought he would come out with 1000 majority.

White moved to adjourn, but they wouldn't.

FOR GOVERNOR

Eugene Semple Nominated by Acclamation—A Brief Speech

Next in order of business was the nomination of a candidate for governor.

Shaw of Clarke nominated Eugene Semple without any speech whatever.

Sharpstein seconded it in a brief speech, declaring that it was important to have a candidate with a record which would commend him to the voters. Such a man was Eugene Semple. He had been complimented even by the leading republicans and if he was good enough for republicans to commend he was good enough to be the candidate of this convention.

Wallace reported that Pierce county only wanted the strongest man and they believed Semple was the strongest man and they should cast their solid vote for him. He had the hostility of all of the corporations and that would endear him to the people and ... their votes.

On motion of McGuire of Spokane the nomination was made unanimous by acclamation.

The Tacoma band played "Hail to the Chief," and McGuire and Lewis were appointed to escort Semple before the convention, which they did while the band repeated "Hail to the Chief."

Governor Semple said it was very difficult to find words to express his gratitude and thanks for the honor conferred upon him. He had been in this Northwest country for twenty-seven years and it was with a feeling of gratitude that he had been permitted to see this commonwealth grow to such a grand and successful state. He had taken part already in the development, and with the permission of the people he would take a further part in it and if he was elected he promised to adhere rigidly to the maxim "public office is a public trust."

FOR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Platter, of Whitman, Defeats Goodell, of Chehalis.

Brown of Pierce moved to adjourn, but again they wouldn't, only 28 delegates rising in support of the motion.

Nominations for lieutenant-governor were next in order, and Bell, of Chehalis, said it was unnecessary to eulogize a democrat, because every one of them was a king. That sentiment ought to have been applauded, but it wasn't. The republicans, he said, were well organized and would put up plenty of cash, so he proposed to nominate a man of unflinching integrity and unsullied hands, and his name was M Z Goodell of Montesano.

... could never don anything of a political nature that gave him so much personal pleasure ... and so satisfied his ... of duty as that which he now referred to, nominating L H Platter, of Whitman county.

Metcalfe of King said that for nearly twenty-five years the banner of democracy went down in defeat, but Whitman county came to the front and gave to that party the Young Willow of the Palouse, before whom the republican party went down into the dust twice. Now again comes Whitman county with a candidate, and he would ... in leading the democratic party to victory. He seconded the nomination of Platter.

The roll call of counties was called for these nominations with the following result:

COUNTIES.	Goodell	Platter
Adams		2
Asotin		2
Chehalis	5
Clallam	2

Totals	46	116

Platter was accordingly declared to be the nominee, and on motion of Goodell of Chehalis the nomination was made unanimous.

Platter said that to say "thank you" for the honor would be to clothe his thoughts in tattered words, but they should hear again from him before the October election. He stood squarely on their platform, for it was right, and he would rather be right than be lieutenant governor. [Applause.]

OTHER NOMINATIONS

There Was Little Competition, and Proceedings Went With a Rush.

For secretary of state Durie of King nominated W H Whittlesey of Port Townsend, and McElroy seconded the nomination energetically on the ground that he wanted to see Allen Weir so completely snowed under that he would never be heard from again, on account of his course at Olympia in regard to the tide lands.

There were no other nominations and on motion of Judson of Tacoma the nomination was made unanimous, and Whittlesey was given three cheers.

For state treasurer White of King nominated M Kaufman, of Tacoma, saying that Seattle was determined some how or other to pay at least a portion of her debt to Tacoma.

Wallace seconded the nomination and there being no other nomination Kaufman was unanimously nominated. He said he was no speech maker—only a merchant. He had told Wallace to write him a speech, but he had not done it. [Laughter.] He thanked them for nominating him treasurer of the treasury and they laughed again. He further said that he was ready to begin work now and if they had any money to take care of he was ready immediately to take charge of it, and they laughed some more.

For state auditor Blodgett of Thurston nominated John Miller Murphy of Olympia, and Carson of King seconded him.

There were no other nominations and Murphy was unanimously nominated after Elmore of King had said that he didn't know Murphy, but he hoped the audience of King county wouldn't defeat him.

Murphy said he did not seek the nomination but would have been better pleased to see some one else nominated, so that he could attend to his newspaper, but he felt it a duty to accept and thanked them for the honor.

For attorney general Palmer of Pierce nominated J B Metcalf, of King, and Spokane county seconded.

Metcalf said he could not take the nomination, although he would gladly enter the fight if he could and ... hold the banner of democracy before the people. But his business would not let him take it.

The ... asked if he peremptorily declined.

Metcalf said he did, but he had a substitute to present—a man who could win—the Hon H J Snively, of Yakima county, and he eulogized him finely.

Emery of King seconded Snively's nomination.

Snively was nominated unanimously by acclamation on motion of Judson of Pierce and being loudly called for he appeared and the chair introduced him. He said his nomination for this high position was entirely unexpected. He came merely as a looker on to see what the democratic convention would do and was glad he came, and he would do all that he could to make the ticket win.

Lewis of Pierce moved to adjourn, but they refused again.

For superintendent of public instruction, Sharpstein, of Walla Walla, by a request with which he cheerfully complied, nominated J H Morgan of Kittitas county, and ... seconded. Morgan's nomination was made unanimous by acclamation.

For commissioner of public lands Hooker of Olympia nominated Hon M Z Goodell of Chehalis, and Lewis ... seconded.

Foster of Olympia nominated J H Taylor of Lewis county.

The roll call of counties gave it to Goodell by 11 votes ... 41 for Taylor.

FOR THE SUPREME COURT

Nominations for judges of the supreme court were then in order. McElroy, on behalf of the ... and all other working men, nominated a man whom they all loved ... had given to them, ... law ... who would protect the working man and not the corporations—William H White, whom they would not only nominate but elect.

Kaufman seconded this nomination with great pleasure.

Coleman in an enthusiastic speech nominated B L Sharpstein of Walla Walla.

Platter nominated J B Reavis of Yakima and promised him the twelve votes of Whitman county.

Palmer of Pierce county nominated John Paul Judson.

Hooper, of Spokane, nominated Frank Ganahl of Spokane.

Wallace moved suspension of the rules and the nomination of all these gentlemen at once by acclamation. It was so voted.

IN CONCLUSION

The chair submitted two invitations—one to an agricultural fair to-morrow and one to the laying of the corner stone of a Methodist church.

Wallace moved the thanks of the convention to the chairman and secretary for their efficient services.

Sundry amendments were made so that the citizens of Ellensburgh were included for their hospitality, the assistant secretaries for their services, the ladies and others for decorating the hall, the two bands for their music, Yakima for her watermelons and several other persons and things, all of which amendments Wallace accepted and the vote of thanks was adopted.

Three cheers were given for the ticket, the bands played "Sounding the Battle Cry of Freedom," "Yankee Doodle" and "Marching Through Georgia," and the chair declared the convention adjourned sine die at 10:15 P M.

AGAINST THE CONSTITUTION

O... W T, Sept 7.

To the Editor of The Oregonian.

Constitutions like machinery should combine the highest thought with the latest improvements. If a defective machine fails in the markets of the world much more should a constitution defective in these qualifications fail at the polls.

Apply this test to article 9 of the new constitution, and note the result. Objection ... repeated by the best educators (and The Oregonian is by no means the exception to the rule) to false principles of education in our common schools meet in this document no adequate expression. Crowding the memory with facts does not educate. Education has been well defined as the harmonious training of the head, the hand and the heart. A factor of little ... until ... faculties are trained to use it and to apply it to the practical purposes of life. Our common schools ... if they do not ... ignore the importance to the pupil and to the public of simple obedience. Obedience to parents and to teacher, the corner stone of education ... ties obedience ... to state law, but to ... in which they can be found ... The mechanic ... the discoverer and the inventor are alike dependent on their obedience to laws. If the common school fails in this duty ...

If the ... aims too low where is the ... consider ...

WOMEN OF WASHINGTON.

Looking Up the Law and Some Will Assert Their Right to Vote.

Men Advised To Vote for the Woman Suffrage Article if They Expect To Be Admitted to Statehood.

WALLA WALLA, W T, Sept 10.

Knowing as I do of the intense eagerness with which the women voters of Washington territory who are responsible for my present mission ... among them ... for any word from whatever quarter that will aid them in their ... do ... the request of many of them in Walla Walla county to reply ... through the columns of The Oregonian, which goes everywhere.

But first, I wish to state that the strongest opponent of woman's vote in the territory is the Walla Walla Union, which through its editor ... in its issue of the 7th inst, for the evident purpose of arousing the old hostility against woman suffragists among the prohibitionists of the territory by announcing that the undersigned ... the previous evening at the opera house had advised the women to have nothing to do with the prohibition party.

The Statesman inadvertently fell into the same error by copying from the Union; hence the double need of this explanation. It was announced and emphasized on that occasion that the women were to take sides with no political party in this crisis, but ... to confine their votes to constitution and to woman suffrage article. The women have never admitted themselves disfranchised in this territory by the fiat of that coterie of carpet-baggers from the slave districts, but they have had the good sense to await their turn in impartial silence, to allow the rats of politics of all political parties that some things can be done quite as successfully sometimes as some others. They have quietly laughed in their sleeves during all the late hurrah of men over their fancied success in tying the hands of women, of course expecting to keep them tied till they could ... the women voters out of their rightful place in the government as ... tax paying voters ... They fancied these bombastic conservators of their own pet tyrannies that they had securely builded constitutional walls around the women of the new state and locked them up forever, politically speaking, among idiots in and ... criminals, Chinamen and Indians not taxed.

Women didn't expect them to receive one recoil of their own blunderbuss without vehement protest, and they hardly looked for even ... B Johnson to ... out so ... as ... did in this morning's ... in pseudo sympathy with the ... whom he is afraid of seeing humiliated by the refusal of the judges of election to receive their vote. Nor is he ignorant of the fact that the refusal is expected by the women voters as a part of his huge conspiracy with Southern carpet baggers who ... to see the Dred Scott ... the women ... as ... legally ... before and after the war ... a grand subject for ... photographs ...

Women are not acting in this important crisis without able counsel. They are taxpaying women too, and are ... to anybody's gratuitous advice ... PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 11

THE ELLENSBURGH PLATFORM

Democrats of [illegible] of Washington [illegible] convention at Walla Walla [illegible] Washington had been kept out of the honors and benefits of statehood by the long and continuous opposition of the democracy, whose leaders feared that the addition to the voting strength of the free and progressive commonwealth of the North would render of no avail the terrorism [illegible] by which a free expression of [illegible] opinions in the Southern states is prevented." This distinctly explains why Washington and the Dakotas have been refused admission as states during many years. It has been one of the most notorious acts of our national politics.

But the democratic convention at Ellensburgh has had the hardihood to deny this, and in the denial it gets off a bit of cheap and windy declamation, in which an indignant [illegible] is simulated to give impressiveness to the arraignment of the republican party for having made a willfully false statement.

Now Washington has been desiring for years to come in as a state. Who has prevented her? Who has kept her out? Who but democrats? That party has controlled the house of representatives during many years, and admission of the Northwestern territories has been persistently refused from one presidential term to another through fear of their votes in congress and the electoral college. The hope of that party was the combination between the solid South and certain Northern states, but that combination would have been made of no avail if the votes of new states had been added to the republican column. Hence the democratic party refused to consider any proposition for admission of the new states. This partisan purpose was so unfair, so flagrant, so outrageous that the republican party in its national platform of 1888 distinctly arraigned the democratic party on the ground of its refusal to consider bills for the admission of the territories as states; recited the fact that bills had already twice been passed by the senate to admit South Dakota, which bills the house had refused to take up, and declared that the pending bills to enable the people of Washington, North Dakota and Montana to form constitutions and establish state governments—bills which the democrats in congress had hitherto positively refused to consider—should be passed without further delay. But the democrats in congress would not take action. They had resolved prior to 1884 that no new states should come in till after the presidential election of that year, and after 1884, when they saw that their sole hope for continuance in power was maintenance of the old conditions, they again resolved that the new states should not come in till after 1888. And they kept their resolution. Finally, after the election of 1888, when they saw that they were beaten, they yielded and consented to the passage of a general bill for the admission of the Northwestern territories as states. This is the record, and there is no denying it. Voorhees, of Washington, attributed his overwhelming defeat last November chiefly to the impatience and resentment of the people towards the democratic party on account of the refusal of its representatives in congress to let the territories in as states, and the democratic candidate for delegate in Montana attributed his signal defeat largely to the same cause. Yet in the face of the notorious facts the Ellensburgh convention has the hardihood to assert that the Walla Walla platform in its declaration that Washington had been prevented from taking her place as a state in the Union by the "long continued opposition of the democracy," is "a willfully false statement." It is a denial as absurd as the pretense that the democratic party has been the party of Freedom and of Union, when in fact in the contest for Freedom and Union there was not in the whole United States a single supporter of Slavery and Disunion who was not a democrat. In that struggle no republican in all the United States was a supporter of Slavery and Disunion, and if all democrats were not supporters of Slavery and Disunion, all supporters of Slavery and Disunion were democrats, called themselves democrats, and professed to derive the doctrine of secession from Jefferson himself. So now, what party hitherto has prevented the Northwestern territories from becoming states? They have been prevented; there is no dispute about that. And who but democrats during years past have opposed and prevented their admission? What party but the democratic party has had reason to fear the political consequences of the admission of the new states?

Again, in the Ellensburgh manifesto we read that "Washington territory was wrested from British possession by democratic courage, statesmanship and diplomacy; that it was first organized as a political division by a democratic administration," and that "the bill for the admission of all the new states was formulated by a democratic committee, passed by a democratic house and promptly signed by a democratic president." The last of these statements is sufficiently answered in the foregoing remarks. A democratic house did indeed pass the bill and a democratic president did indeed sign it, but that was after the democratic defeat of last year, when that party had found that it had no longer anything to gain by persisting further in its long refusal to let the new states in. The assertion that Washington territory was "first organized as a political division by a democratic administration" is a dishonest statement, intended to mislead. Washington was made a territory by act of congress passed during the whig administration of President Fillmore. It was done, however, just at the close of Fillmore's term, and the territorial government was put in operation under the Pierce administration. The Ellensburgh statement, therefore, while literally true, is impliedly false, since its intent is to spread the impression that the democratic party created the territory of Washington. But the most amusing part of this manifesto, on the whole, is that which asserts that Washington territory was "wrested from British possession by democratic courage, statesmanship and diplomacy." The basis of our title to Washington (which was part of Oregon) was discovery, and the discovery long ante-dates the existence of the democratic party. The country was not wrested from British possession, for the British never had possession of it. There was joint occupation of the country during a long period by Great Britain and the United States. What the democratic party did was not to "wrest the country from British possession," but during the administration of President Polk to surrender to Great Britain nearly one-half the territory claimed by the United States. President Polk came in on the proclamation of "fifty-four forty, or fight," but he presently surrendered all British Columbia, to which our title was just as good as to the rest of Oregon. This magnificent country was surrendered to Great Britain because it was Northern territory and could not be used to extend the area of slave holding; but at the same time the democratic party carried the country into a war for Texas solely that the area of slave territory might be extended and the political power of the South, then as now the seat of the power of the democratic party, might be strengthened and enlarged. An empire was given away in the North because it could not be devoted to [illegible] upon a weak [illegible] territory in the South that would strengthen the slave power.

This historical recital shows that the [illegible] convention that [illegible]

[illegible] result of [illegible] of this humorous document. We [illegible] there is the great Standard oil trust, regarding which it will be noted at once that there is no duty on petroleum; and moreover it will be remembered what great democrat represents Ohio in the senate, and what that democrat's relationship to the great oil interests is. Again there is the great democratic sugar trust, whose representatives last year went before the Mills committee and remonstrated with eminent success against abolition or reduction of the duty on refined sugar. The sugar trust is the most oppressive of all the trusts of the country—more oppressive, indeed, than all other trusts combined. It takes countless millions every year from the people and transfers them to the pockets of the sugar ring. But the democratic party will not allow the extremely high protective duty on sugar to be abolished. It wants to protect the Louisiana planter and the New York sugar ring. It rails against protection as the mother of trusts, yet insists on exorbitant protection for sugar, upon which the greatest and most oppressive of trusts is founded, while it demands free trade for wool, in which there is no trust at all.

We are afraid it will not be possible to say much during the campaign in Washington either for the sincerity or for the historical accuracy of the Ellensburgh platform.

ARMY DESERTIONS

Small as is the standing army of the United States, the question of keeping the ranks full, not by inducing enlistment, but by preventing the desertion of enlisted men, is one that is being seriously considered by the highest military authorities of the nation. It is reasonably apparent that to get men of ordinarily good habits and possessing the common attributes of honesty and energy to lie around the military posts of the frontier in times of profound peace is by no means an easy task. There is nothing whatever in such a life to satisfy even the tamest ambition, while there is everything in it—idleness, coarse companionship, the groveling conditions that follow the herding together of a number of men for a term of years—to weaken personal integrity and snuff out the last spark of independent self-respecting manhood.

Most of the deserters from the ranks are, it is said, American born, and 90 per cent of these desert during the first and second years of their term of enlistment. These are suggestive points for military authorities to build upon in attempting a reform of conditions that will make the monotony of the common soldier's life less irksome.

Institutions of liberty, while they promote and foster patriotism and fill the people with a generous impulse to rush to national defense when opportunity presents itself for the exercise of valor, are averse to the principle that requires men to stand under arms a grim menace to a terrible foe, their most exhilarating occupation the regular drill and target-practice their only road to fame. Uninviting as is the lot of the common soldier, however, the secretary of war and his advisers believe it possible to so soften some of its harsher features and amend objectionable methods that custom has made law in the treatment of the soldier, that desertions will be greatly lessened.

Among the remedial measures suggested, and which will be embodied in a law which congress will be asked to enact, is the limiting of the first term of enlistment to three years and the re-enlistment to five, granting discharges according to the length of service, providing for a graded code of punishments for the guidance of the court martial, the discharge of incorrigibly bad men without characters, thus barring their re-entry into the service, securing a better class of non-commissioned officers, especially first sergeants, by increasing their pay, and increasing the reward offered for deserters, thus making their apprehension and punishment more certain. These suggestions appeal to the good sense of everyone who has any knowledge of human nature as possessing elements that hold at least a promise of relief. Experience has proved that penalty alone is not strong enough to hold unwilling men to disagreeable duty when they can shirk it, and there is wisdom in the suggestions that propose to make the life of the soldier more tolerable, taking due care to strengthen rather than weaken the force of discipline, without which an army would speedily become a mere rabble.

A delegation composed of practical humanitarians, known as the Conference of Charities, has assembled in San Francisco and will remain in session for some days, learning from each other concerning the methods that each has found most efficacious in carrying forward benevolent, charitable and reformatory work, and discussing the relations of penal regulations to the same. It is a fact that much of the charitable work of the world falls far short of the intent and expectation of those who strive earnestly to promote its interests. What not to do is as important a consideration in dealing with a mendicant class as is the question, What to do? Indeed careful philanthropists who look to the future of those to whom they give alms for the relief of temporary distress find the first question often the more puzzling one to solve. Experience is the only safe guide in determining these matters, and a conference that multiplies the experiences of each member by those of each of the others cannot fail to be a useful adjunct of organized charity. The present is the sixteenth annual session of this conference of charities, and it will no doubt be both interesting and profitable.

The Pendleton East Oregonian offers these remarks:

Suits are about to be brought to recover the millions of acres of land fraudulently held by Oregon wagon road companies—which never built the roads. This is one of the results of the administration of honest Grover Cleveland.

To which The Dalles Times Mountaineer makes this reply:

The bill under which the present proceedings are had is a republican measure, drawn up by Senator Dolph, and his efforts secured its passage through the senate. The measure recommended by President Cleveland was much different, and provided for the forfeiture of the wagon road land grants without any judicial determination of the rights of innocent purchasers from the company. After the present bill has been condemned by nearly every democratic paper in Oregon, because of its origin in the republican senate, we hope our esteemed cotemporary of Pendleton will not have the temerity to claim it as one of the results of the administration of honest Grover Cleveland.

A man was injured, perhaps fatally, on a Salem street a few days ago by a falling awning. The fatal accident has caused reference to the city statute book, where duly enrolled and in full force was found an ordinance passed in 1886 making awnings over sidewalks unlawful. The Statesman says that immediately following the passage of this ordinance numerous awnings on the business streets were torn down, but enforcement of the law soon ceased. Since the accident, however, a number of awnings have been removed, and naturally there is not a little anxiety as to whether the city is liable for damages in this case. The life of this man is not the first that has been sacrificed to a lapsing ordinance, and it will not be surprising if the city has to pay for the neglect to enforce a provision framed to prevent accidents of this kind.

A special edition devoted to the manufacturing [illegible] be issued by The Oregonian on Monday, September 16. [illegible] week [illegible] No [illegible] will attempt [illegible] of the progress of the past year than it will present in a concise and attractive form that array of facts which it is necessary to place before the people of the East in order to induce them to make their homes in Oregon. For this reason the paper of that date will be of especial interest to those who hope to induce their friends in other states to rejoin them here. An extra edition of many thousand copies of this number will be issued, that there may be enough to supply all orders. Outside orders in the state or territory should be sent in as early as possible.

Senator Blair of New Hampshire is reported as ready to make the following appeal to liquor sellers:

John [illegible] prohibition [illegible] You [illegible] liquor [illegible] You [illegible] Why will ye not [illegible] arbiters [illegible] man [illegible] drinking [illegible] then in the grave [illegible] sufficient [illegible] devils will drink [illegible] do not destroy us [illegible]

Brother Blair may never make this identical speech, but it does not at all misrepresent the absurd philosophy of the average prohibitionist when it places the responsibility for intemperance not upon the drinker but upon the seller.

Dr. Allen McLane Hamilton, a distinguished physician of New York, in reply to a question as to what he thought of "mind reading," replied:

All this mind reading is nothing more than the [illegible] acutely trained perceptions [illegible] through [illegible] communication [illegible] tricksters of intuition [illegible] idea to what an extent [illegible] Almost any one can tell what [illegible] person is thinking of [illegible] down a column of figures [illegible] among them or [illegible] thinking [illegible] number of words with the [illegible] same [illegible] word upon which [illegible] develops that faculty wonderfully.

This nation is singularly rich in anniversaries for its age. Baltimore is engaged in a magnificent demonstration in commemoration of the defense of that city in the second war with Great Britain. The music of "The Star Spangled Banner" takes precedence over other patriotic airs in this celebration, since a feature of it is the commemoration of the bombardment of Fort McHenry, which event inspired the song. It is pleasing to see a city not especially noted for its patriotism and devotion to the flag in later years wake up to the importance of a memorable occasion and celebrate with enthusiasm the fact that "our flag was still there."

It has been but a few weeks since Hon. Samuel S. Cox visited the Northwest. He was then in good health. He showed all his usual mental activity and appeared to have many years of life still before him. The announcement of his death will come now as a surprise and shock to those who so recently met him or read the vivacious speeches he delivered here. Mr. Cox was born in Zanesville, O., in 1824, and was just completing his 65th year. He had served over twenty years in congress, and long had a reputation as an exceptionally brilliant man.

S. Austin Allibone, whose great work, "A Critical Dictionary of English Literature and British and American Authors," is known to every general reader, died at Lucerne, Switzerland, on Monday of last week, in his seventy-fourth year. Mr. Allibone through out his whole life was one of the most industrious literary workers in America. He was a native of Philadelphia, but lived latterly in New York. His Dictionary of Authors is a work of vast range and value.

A communication from C. D. Chandler, of Yamhill county, states an intricate legal problem regarding foreclosure of a mortgage. The Oregonian does not answer legal questions. In such matters a good lawyer is the proper person to consult.

HIS TREES DID MIGHTY WELL,

But They Didn't Beat the One Owned by Capt Allen Noyes.

EAST PORTLAND, Sept. 10, 1889.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I saw in your Monday's OREGONIAN an article or notice of a peach tree and its bearing of peaches at four years old at Captain Noyes's residence. As you stated if any one could beat this tree to come to the front. I purchased some half dozen yearling (Early Crawford) trees last January at [illegible] pleton's nursery, Lafayette, Oregon, and set them on my farm near Dayton about the 1st of February. Three of the trees had fruit from one to four on each tree of good size and well matured, thus bearing at two years old or less. I also have one hundred and twenty-five trees of different varieties, and all were well fruited and had to be [illegible] to save the rest from break[illegible] down. Who says William [illegible] will not grow peaches? The old adage is [illegible] against the world. DR. R. [illegible]

[The above is a very good showing, and all the world knows old [illegible] but the doctor has hardly beat Captain Noyes's tree. The point was not made on the early bearing of the tree, as the fact that it bore seven fine peaches last year was not mentioned. The doctor's trees were budded or grafted, which gives them an advantage in regard to early bearing, while Captain Noyes's tree is a seedling and bore 100 peaches of the largest size seen in this market, many of them measuring eleven inches in diameter, and judging from appearances there was not one [illegible] less than ten inches in diameter. The man who said peaches would not grow in the Willamette has emigrated to Alaska.]

A DREADFUL WARNING.

What Came of a Young Woman Carrying a Pen in Her Hair

Many ladies have lately been wearing long pins of various shapes as daggers, spears, etc., in their hair and using very long and sharp pins to fasten on their hats, the projecting points of which are about on a par with a barbed wire fence.

Yesterday a rather tall, rather good looking young woman was seen walking rapidly up Morrison street with a pen in her hair. The end of the holder was stuck in her back hair and the pen, which was covered with ink, protruded about six inches beyond her starboard ear. She was evidently a bookkeeper on her way to luncheon.

The sharp pointed pen caused people to give the young woman a wide berth, but one young man passing rapidly down the street in passing between the young lady and another person came so close to her that he was "ruled" from the corner of his mouth to his ear, leaving a black streak well scratched in. He was much alarmed for fear he was tattooed and marked for life, but the young lady marched on conquering and to conquer, knowing not that she had left her mark on the young man.

DRESS FABRICS. Regular importations of woolen dress goods are shown in great variety and in all of the standard shades, as well as many new and charming combinations and modifications. While it can scarcely be said that there are any radically new colors, there are new blendings, the effect of which is novel and altogether satisfactory to ladies of artistic taste. The popularity of embroidered materials seems to increase rather than diminish, and the markets are full of the most attractive patterns in this universally favorite form of decoration.

Among the leading styles in pattern dresses are bands about four or five inches wide. These bands are done in embroidery, in colors or in sh[illegible] silks, which give great variety to the design, without introducing any st[illegible] contrasts. On one edge of these bordered dresses are the wide bands, [illegible] on the other are narrow edgings, suitable for waist and sleeve trimming. In plain goods, here is endless variety. Cashmere, Henrietta Cloth, Suitings, Serges, Broadcloths, Amazons and Ladies' Cloth. Many ladies will prefer purchasing of these plain materials and trimming, with either Persian or Roman Embroidery Bands, which will give the effect of bordered goods and at a much less cost than one of the embroidered pattern dresses. You will see both displayed at our fall opening and can examine into their respective merits at your leisure.

Velvets are to be among the leading fabrics of this season. Whether in black or colors, it seems to matter but little, the decree has gone forth in favor of velvet, and importers are filling their cases with it in prospect. The old-time velvet basque and bodice will be revived, and blouse waists will be indulged in by young ladies of slender figure.

Princesse dresses of velvet will be among the regular orders, and informal reception costumes will be arranged after princesse models.

Plush will follow velvet in popular favor, both for wraps and full costumes. Checked, striped and brocaded velvets and plushes are going to be in good demand and more freely used than in the last two seasons. As to what is "correct style" we would quote the following from "Our Fashion Journal":

"Ladies who would acquire a correct style and cultivate good taste in dress should, first of all, study the appropriateness of the material to the purpose for which it is required, and whether it be in the item of cost, quality, color or style of making, the general question of adaptability should not for a moment be lost sight of."

Good taste, like good manners, may be cultivated, and to do this it is necessary to choose the best models from artists of acknowledged merit, and to study them carefully, as well as to note the most approved combinations of colors and material, and their effect upon others with which they may come in contact.

We would remind our friends, as we close this article, that there is going to be a great revival in silks this season, not only in black, but colored silks. Faille Francaise will take first place of all silk fabrics, closely followed by the Armure and Merveilleux.

Black Dress Goods will hold their own as popular favorites with a large portion of the fashionable world. We shall show them in quite as great a variety of styles and weave as in colored material.

OLDS SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Judge Stearns Fixes November 1 as the Day of Execution.

Alphus Green Sues His Wife, Rosanna, for a Divorce—Joe Holladay Refuses to Accept Service From a Deputy Sheriff.

The announcement in THE OREGONIAN that Charles ("Sandy") Olds was to be sentenced to death by Judge Stearns yesterday morning, at 9:30 o'clock, for the killing of Emil Weber, in May last, packed the courtroom of department No. 2 of the state circuit court with persons more or less interested in the case.

A few moments before the time set for the pronouncing of sentence, Olds, attired in a neat black Prince Albert suit, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Lounsbury, put in an appearance and took a seat within the railing in front of Judge Stearns's bench.

The prisoner looked no more worn than he did at his trial. The four months' imprisonment has told somewhat upon his nerves, but otherwise he is the same old "Sandy." When he took his seat in the courtroom yesterday he looked more composed than he did at any time during his recent trial.

At 9:40 o'clock the door leading to the court's chamber opened and Judge Stearns stepped forth and took his seat. District Attorney McGinn arose and addressed the court as follows: "Your honor, the time appointed for pronouncing the sentence of the court upon Charles Olds, convicted of the murder of Emil Weber, has arrived."

Judge Stearns requested Olds to stand up, after which he said: "Have you anything to say why the sentence of death should not be passed upon you?"

"Sandy," it was expected, would make a few remarks upon his case, but after taking a hasty glance around the room he replied in a firm tone, "No, sir."

Judge Stearns then pronounced the court's sentence, as follows: "The judgment of the court is that you be taken hence and securely confined in the county jail of Multnomah county until Friday, the 1st day of November, A. D. 1889, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 2 o'clock P. M. of said day, you be taken from thence to the inclosure of the jail of said county, and then and there, in the manner provided by law, you be hanged by the neck until dead. And may God have mercy on your soul."

Olds stood and listened to the ominous words in silence, as they fell from Judge Stearns's lips. He turned slightly pale and a faint tremor was noticeable about his lips, but the appearance he presented was not different from that of any other person similarly situated. He remained in the court room a few moments conversing with his counsel, after which he was re-conducted to his quarters down stairs.

An OREGONIAN reporter visited the condemned man late in the afternoon, arriving just after he had finished a hearty meal which a messenger boy had brought in a few minutes previously. He greeted the reporter pleasantly, and on being asked if he refrained from addressing the court for the reason that he thought it would not help his case any, replied:

"No, it was not for that reason. When I went into the court room I had my mind made up to say something if given an opportunity. When Judge Stearns asked me if I had anything to say I glanced around the room, but as I did not see a representative of THE OREGONIAN I concluded to say nothing. THE OREGONIAN has reported my case fully and impartially, and I knew if one of its reporters heard what I had to say, the public would read it just as uttered. I did not want to say anything and then have it get to the ears of the public in a garbled form in some indirect way."

Olds did not tell the reporter what he had intended saying. He, however said, that if it was murder in the first degree to kill a man who had the previous night made threats to kill him, and was in the very act of drawing a pistol when he (Olds) fired the fatal shots, why then he should be punished. He repeated the story of the killing, not varying one iota from his testimony at his trial. He laid particular stress upon the fact that he did everything in his power to avoid Weber after learning the threats he had made, and that he did not shoot until he saw the latter start to draw his thirteen-inch 45-caliber revolver.

He said that he was feeling well and his health was good. He certainly looked well barring a slight paleness brought on by his confinement.

ALPHUS GREENE SEEKING A DIVORCE.

Alphus Greene commenced action for a divorce in the circuit court yesterday against his wife, Rosanna. He was married to the woman who is now his wife one year ago to-morrow, and, judging from his complaint his short wedded life has been anything but pleasant.

He says that Rosanna has accused him of having improper relations with another woman, and that she has frequently asked his little girl to watch his conduct. In less than four months after the two hearts were made to beat as one, the defendant threatened to kill him with a flat iron.

Rosanna got tired of Alphus very soon, for she almost daily told him she was sorry she had married him, threatening to obtain a divorce so that she could marry a man named Fisher. Green alleges that his wife is a common scold who has rendered his life miserable. He left Rosanna on the 24th of March last because he could no longer endure her ill treatment.

REFUSED TO BE SERVED.

Deputy Sheriff Lounsbury, who went down to Clatsop beach, where Joe Holladay is sojourning, last Saturday, to secure the latter's signature to a notice of the sale of the personal property of the late Ben Holladay, in conformity with an order made by Judge Stearns last Wednesday, has returned, but without the coveted scratch of a pen. The deputy sheriff says that he read the order to Mr. Holladay, but the latter said that he would not comply with it until he had had an interview with his attorneys.

Judge Stearns provided in his order that the notice of the sale, which is fixed for the 21st instant, must be signed by both receivers, George W. Weidler and Joseph Holladay, at least ten days before the sale is to take place, and at the same time published in THE DAILY OREGONIAN. The time expired Monday night, and Holladay has not yet complied with the order. But yesterday counsel for James Steel, the administrator of the estate, caused notices of the forthcoming sale to be posted in conspicuous places, with the signature of George W. Weidler affixed to them.

MUNICIPAL COURT GLEANINGS.

The following minor cases were disposed of by Judge Tanner in the police court yesterday afternoon: Sam McLean, S. C. Johnson, A. J. Parson, John McLain, and James Gallagher, charged with being drunk, fined $5 each; Jack Donohue, same charge, five days in the city jail; Charles Brown, charged with using abusive language to August Erickson, forfeited $10 bail; Gus Barry, the hackman, was fined $10 for fast driving and a similar amount for neglecting to display lights on the hack; James Driscoll was fined $10 for trespassing.

Louis Carter, the barkeeper in the Helena saloon on North First street, charged with larceny by bailee of a pistol entrusted to his care by a ranchman named H. Lohman, was found guilty and fined $30.

The cases of William Thomas and John Russell, arrested while attempting to dispose of some stolen property, were continued another day in hopes that the owner of the clothes will appear to prosecute. The clothing consists of feminine wearing apparel and was stolen in East Portland.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT.

Grant Cohon is the name of a young man who was arraigned in the police court yesterday on a charge of assault and battery on Mrs. Ellen Sullivan, a candy shop keeper on Third street, near E. According to the injured woman's story, who appeared in court with one eye nearly closed, and one side of her face terribly beaten up, the assault was a most cowardly and brutal one. Mrs. Sullivan stated that Cohon came into the store about 9 o'clock Monday evening and bought some cigarettes; after which he started to go into her bedroom, where her two little children were asleep. She took hold of him to prevent him from going, whereupon he struck her in the face with his clenched fist, at the same time remarking with an oath that he wanted to see "the girls."

The court fined Cohon $30, in default of which he was sent to the city jail for fifteen days.

REFUSES TO VACATE.

S. Blumauer has brought a suit of ejectment in Justice Phelan's court against Mattie Glover to compel her to vacate the upper stories of the building at No. 71½ Morrison street. Mrs. Glover is in possession of the third story and part of the second, in which she conducts a lodging-house. The owner has given her the required ten days' notice, but the doughty little woman declines to budge; hence the process of law.

SOUTH PORTLAND CIVIL ACTIONS.

The following small civil actions have been commenced in Justice Tuttle's court: Milo B. Smith vs. Charis Eisele, for $57 50; W. Darrow vs. S. Tomlinson, for $60; W. S. Thompson vs. H. M. Hudson, for $30 35; W. S. Young vs. John C. Crosby, for $20; Charles Thompson vs. Harry Heights, for $72 50.

SO THEY WERE VICTIMIZED.

How an Alleged Slick Timber Land Cruiser Swindled Several Persons.

It is well known that there are a large number of persons and firms, many of them Michigan people, busy securing title to timber land in this state. This has been going on for a considerable time and a large number of men are employed as timber cruisers and agents.

Various methods are adopted for securing the title to these lands, but perhaps the most common is to get some one to locate a claim in his own name, and then make it over to the person who employed the locators. The number of these cruisers and locators is legion, in fact, the woods are full of them.

It has come to light that a party of some twenty persons have been victimized in this business by a man who represented himself as working in the interests of some railroad corporation. He induced them to put up $50 each to secure claims, on the understanding that when they had secured certificates to their claims they were to receive $150 each for them from the corporation. They gave him the money and were to meet him at the land office at Oregon City to have the matter fixed up, but he failed to appear and they are out and injured. It is supposed the fellow has duped many more in the same manner.

AN ITEM CRITICISED.

The Post Surgeonship of the Homeopathic Department of Ann Arbor University.

PORTLAND, Sept. 10.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

A local was noticed in your columns a few days since that upon a second thought is amusing. It is in reference to a young man who claims to have been offered the position of post surgeon of the homeopathic department of the Ann Arbor university. Now, I wish to remark that either that young doctor was giving the reporter a "fill," or there is a great deal of humbuggery about that branch of the medical profession. For a man who has pursued medical studies for not over twenty-four months at the most, and probably eighteen months would be nearer it, to be offered a position of that kind shows that it requires no study to fit one's self for the practice of homeopathy. That notice should be a great advertisement for the allopaths.

Again, no institution of any standing, whether it taught a humbug science or not, could afford to give the position of post surgeon to a boy who had pursued his studies only two terms, as I learn that the one in question was there that length of time. I am a stranger in Oregon, and it may be out of place for me to criticise this little matter, but I feel that such nonsense should not pass unnoticed, and I hope that the young graduates who return here in the future will not take us all for "suckers." R. PICKENS.

EDDIE HALL'S PHOTOGRAPH.

It Is On Display in a Show Window, and Attracts Considerable Attention.

Hundreds of pedestrians stopped in front of a First street drug store yesterday to admire a photograph, displayed in one of the show windows. It was a picture of young Eddie Hall as he looked in landing after taking a seven-minutes' involuntary trip heavenward in Professor R. H. Redmond's hot-air balloon.

The photograph is an excellent representation of Hall's perilous position, besides being a perfect likeness of his features and general make-up. A perfect idea of the boy's thrilling experience can be obtained by looking at the picture. It is doubtful if young Hall ever expected to gain the notoriety his balloon ascension has given him.

PERSONAL.

Mr. John T. Cordray returned from San Francisco yesterday where he engaged a first-class company, headed by Miss Clyde Herron, for his theater.

W. G. Steel left on the overland train yesterday afternoon for San Francisco to attend the national convention of boards of charities to be held in that city.

A PATHETIC SCENE.

General Benjamin F. Butler Accused of Forgery in Open Court.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—A pathetic scene was enacted in the equity courtroom here yesterday. General B. F. Butler for a year past has been the attorney of Samuel Strong, who had a large claim against the government. An award of $47,000 was recently given Strong, and Butler filed a suit for $30,000 of the amount for money advanced and as a part of his fees. He produced a contract signed by Strong, allowing him that sum. Strong said that Butler had locked him up in a room and forced him to sign the contract, which he pronounced to be a forgery.

The running comments between the attorneys for Strong and General Butler were caustic and sensational.

With tears in his eyes, Butler pleaded for an alteration of the record, which would show a charge of forgery against him. He grew pathetic. Then he denounced Strong in bitter terms, branding him as a forger and declaring that he ought to be sentenced to prison.

Strong's attorney said that if it was not for the infirmities of the witness, the gates of the penitentiary would open for Benjamin Butler. Sixty days' time was finally given for the production of the desired testimony on the charges of forgery brought by both sides.

EAST SUBURB JOTTINGS.

Amendments Made to a Very Important Railway Ordinance.

Conditions of the Fifth Street Bridge—A Probable Thief Captured—Large Gang—Term of Lease—Runaway Car.

Attention was called to the condition of the Fifth street bridge across Sullivan's gulch, at the last meeting of the council, and it was then reported to be in a very unsafe condition. However that may be, it has evidently sunk in several places as much as one and two feet. For a distance of about 100 feet from the south side of the bridge toward the center, the surface of the bridge is almost on a level, then comes a depression of about two feet. This is about the middle of the gulch.

The depression is caused by the fact that the foundation of the structure rests on the soft and yielding ground which composes the bottom of the gulch. There is practically no bottom to this mud; at least none was ever found by the longest piling ever driven. When piling were driven for the trestle for the railroad one was driven on top of another, and still a solid foundation was not found. So it certainly does seem that the only way to build a bridge that will not settle is to throw a span from one side of the slough to the other.

One can see the condition of Fifth street bridge by standing on Fourth street bridge. It is up and down, down and up, all the way across. There are plenty of timbers in the structure, which seems to be pretty well braced. The trouble is simply in the yielding foundation. A great deal of money has been expended on the Fifth and Fourth street bridges, and yet the trouble remains—they both continue to settle, and will do so as long as their foundations rest on the yielding bottom of the slough. This is the view of all who know anything about bridge matters.

Fourth street bridge is now in better condition than it has been for years. It is kept pretty level.

THE AMENDMENTS.

The ordinance passed at the last council meeting granting a new franchise to the Willamette Bridge Railway Company, was amended in many particulars, and these amendments are about as follows: The route remains the same as published some time ago, but the company are required, whenever a street is to be improved over which their franchise extends, they shall lay their track at the same time said improvement is being made to the full length of the street so improved. This is to prevent the streets from being torn up after an improvement is made. They are further bound to complete their system within the time specified, viz., January 1, 1891, or they must forfeit all rights on the full length of any street not so completed. They must keep the bridge on Fifth street crossing Sullivan's gulch in good repair to the full width of the bridge, and whenever a new bridge shall be ordered built at said place, they are to pay two-fifths of the cost of same. They are granted the right to lay a double track on all streets where electric motors are to be used, and are not allowed to use a steam motor on any street where it is not now used. They are to keep up the roadway on the line of their track, thirteen feet wide where a double track is laid, and six feet and a half where a single track is laid. The ordinance goes into effect when the company files its acceptance, and Mr. Campony stated the company would not accept the conditions imposed.

DID HE STEAL THE RING?

Yesterday afternoon a stranger called at Logan's drug store, on Fourth and L streets, and wanted to sell a valuable ring to Mr. E. C. Brigham, the watchmaker. Marshal Morgan happened to be near at the time, and after the man, failing to dispose of the ring, went out of the store and started down L street, the marshal was informed of the circumstance. The officer requested Mr. Luther, the clerk in the drug store to go out and buy the ring if he could from the fellow. The ring was worth about $10 and he wanted $2 50 for it. Mr. Luther did not find the man, and so did not buy the ring. The man evidently thought that an attempt might be made to take him in, as he turned north on Third street and kept constantly looking back to see if he was being followed. Morgan, however, followed the man. He went down J to Water and then south on Water. The marshal endeavored to head him off, but he was moving along as fast as he could without attracting attention. When Morgan reached N street he could see his man ahead, walking as rapidly as possible and looking back. When the fugitive reached Hogue's sawmill he turned down among the lumber. When Morgan came up he searched for quite a while, and finally ran on to the man, concealed behind some willows. He was placed under arrest and locked up for the night. The man's actions caused suspicion to be directed toward him. It is evident the ring is stolen property.

SHOT THROUGH THE HAND.

G. Gaebling, who has a place of business on Seventh and U streets just north of the East Portland fixture factory, accidently sent a bullet through his hand Sunday. It seems that the cartridge in a pistol, with which he was endeavoring to shoot rats, would not explode, and he was attempting to remove it when it did go off. The ball went through the palm of his left hand, causing a ragged and very painful wound. He went across to some hospital in Portland for treatment.

FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

The item in relation to the ground leased from Clinton & McCoy by Polson & Inman for a sawmill site did not state the time of the lease. It is leased for fifteen years, and at the end of that time, in addition to what they pay for the grounds, Polson & Inman turn the property back to Clinton & McCoy with all the improvements made.

RUNAWAY CAR.

Monday night, in some way, the car used to transport from Vancouver to the brewery depot at the corner of Margaretta avenue and Russell street, got away at Russell street and chased the passenger down the grade as far as Holladay avenue, when there was a slight collision. The beer car struck the rear car, Lady Maud, smashing the platform, but doing no more damage.

RAISING SOME FUNDS.

As the city council did not see its way clear to appropriate any money for the firemen to help defray the expenses for the hose team that goes to Tacoma, a subscription paper has been started to raise money for this purpose. This seems to be the proper thing to do, and a good round sum should be raised for the boys.

CAMPING ON THE GROUND.

There is quite a large gang of Chinamen employed in grading out Hawthorne avenue between Fifth and Fourth streets. They are camped on the vacant block on the south side of the avenue, where their white tents are standing.

A BIG HAUL.

The other night the police made quite a big haul. They succeeded in impounding 250 sheep that were running a large. The pound was pretty full when these sheep were placed in it.

END OF AN EVENTFUL CAREER.

Death of a Refugee Who Was Once a Minister of France.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Death from consumption here last night ended the tragic career of Charles Joseph Savory, a member of the Legion of Honor, and at one time one of the leading politicians of France. Deceased came to Canada in 1884, accompanied by the wife of his ex-secretary. Savory was 44 years of age. He entered politics when quite young, and was finally appointed minister of justice. He was a clever, scholarly man, and won fame in the domain of literature. He was a director of the Bank of Lyons, and when that institution collapsed fled to America to avoid arrest, and was subsequently sentenced to five years' imprisonment. There is still standing against him a judgment of 8,000,000 francs.

Before leaving Paris, he fell in love with the handsome wife of his secretary, who once surprised the couple in a cafe, and received a bullet which lodged in a pocketbook. Savory was accompanied to Canada by the woman, who survives him. His first wife is still living in France.

Savory was regarded as the author of the recent Riel revolt in the Canadian Northwest, his writings helping to stir up the feelings of the French Canadians.

THE DRESSED BEEF INVESTIGATION.

Armour, of Kansas City, Testifies Before the Senate Committee.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 10.—The senatorial investigation committee resumed its sessions to-day.

S. B. Armour, at the head of the Armour Packing Company, of this city, took the stand. He had no agreement with the railroads by which he got lower rates on shipments than any other firm. Witness said he was not a member of any combination whose purpose was to control either the prices of cattle or dressed meat. The territory was not divided up between the packers. All of the packers were in all the markets. The competition was so brisk, in fact, that even he and his brother often cut each other in business.

"Have you knowledge of any combination in Chicago?" Senator Vest asked.

Armour refused to answer. He said that he had no connection with the Armour of Chicago, any-Low.

Mr. Armour knew of no agreement between the railroads and the big packers. He was sure that the rates to all the packers and shippers were practically on the same basis. Before the close of his testimoney he reverted once more to the question of competition between the packers, saying that it was so brisk that there was but little profit in the dressed meat business.

THE WYOMING CONVENTION.

Numerous Resolutions Introduced at Yesterday's Session.

CHEYENNE, Sept. 10.—Frank F. Crook in the constitutional convention to-day presented a resolution that women only be permitted to vote at school elections and be eligible to school offices.

Chaplin, of Albany, presented a preamble containing no reference to the Deity.

Grant, of Albany, introduced a resolution that the state debt be limited to 1 per cent. on the valuation, and county 2 per cent; no city or town to be allowed to create indebtedness exceeding 2 per cent, except in the construction of water works; no work of internal improvement to be commenced except by a two-thirds vote: all lands to be listed for taxation.

Riner, of Laramie, resolved that the state officers consisted of a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary, treasurer and superintendent of public instruction, all to receive $2000 a year except the lieutenant governor, and he shall receive $500 a year.

THOSE ROVING UTES.

They Prove To Be Small and Isolated Hunting Parties.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Col., Sept. 10.—Lieutenant Samuel A. Smoke, stationed at Fort Logan, arrived at Glenwood Springs last night for a trip around the country to investigate the recent Indian scare. He reports but a few Indians to be found, and there are in small parties. They claimed to be after stray horses, but it is pretty certain that they were a hunting party.

The petition recently sent in by the residents of Routt county was more against the issuing of permits by the Indian agent allowing the Utes to leave their reservation. The reports of armed parties was caused by frontiersmen fooling a party of tenderfeet, who were going up the country hunting.

TWO NEW DANCES.

One of Them Was Dreamed by a Dying Musician.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The American Association of professors of dancing has adopted two dances—one round and the other a square dance—and they will be introduced the coming season. The round dance was partly invented by Professor Rivers, who says he got the idea from a dying musician, who said he dreamed it. Therefore it is called "The Dream" (Le Reve). The square dance is a schottische-quadrille, a slight variation of schottische-quadrilles popular for many years and still popular in Philadelphia.

JOHNS HOPKINS' UNIVERSITY.

A Denial of the Report That It Would Be Compelled to Close.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10.—It is now denied that Johns Hopkins' University will be compelled to close. President Gilman, at the close of the last session, said that a guarantee fund of $100,000 had been easily made up, and the institution could go on without contraction, even if the Baltimore & Ohio dividend was passed for three years to come. A few weeks ago the university was enriched by the will of John W. McCoy to the extent of from $100,000 to $500,000.

PORT TOWNSEND NEWS.

The Janitor of the Seamen's Bethel Proves Faithless to His Trust.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., Sept. 5.—The British bark Madeira arrived September 2d, and is moored alongside of Union wharf. Her cargo, which is consigned to Balfour, Guthrie & Co., consists of coke, pig iron, brick, fire clay, etc. After discharging a portion of her cargo here she proceeds to Seattle and Tacoma, where she will put out the remainder of her cargo.

William Harvey, who has been janitor of the Seamen's bethel at this place for some time, departed last week with $300 to $500 and two or three valuable watches belonging to other parties. It has been since learned that he took the Umatilla for San Francisco from which place he intends embarking for South America. Word has been telegraphed to the chief of police at San Francisco to arrest him upon the arrival of the steamer.

Sanford's Ginger on the Rampage.

GENUINE
SANFORD'S
TRADE MARK
GINGER

The old owl is justly indignant at the persistency with which mercenary dealers urge upon would-be purchasers of SANFORD'S GINGER cheap, worthless and often dangerous gingers as "our own make," or "good as Sanford's," or "cheaper than Sanford's," or "the same, etc.," not in the interest of health, but for a few cents extra profit. No respectable druggist or grocer is ever guilty of such practices. Avoid all others. SANFORD'S GINGER has earned by years of meritorious service in the preservation of health and alleviation of human suffering the right to insist that those who call for it shall be given it, without any attempt on the part of dealers to force upon purchasers inferior gingers. Based on intrinsic worth, SANFORD'S GINGER, compounded of imported ginger, choice aromatics, and medicinal French brandy, is the cheapest ginger in the world. Ask for

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

San Francisco, Sept. 10.—Tonnage statement—in port under engagement, 68,500 tons. disengaged, 21,500 tons. Tonnage listed to arrive, 178,000 tons.

Freights and charters—The demand for spot tonnage suitable for wheat or flour is very slow and the market has a soft undertone. Exporters' immediate wants are well in hand and only lower rates would induce free chartering. The tonnage statement, as telegraphed above, shows an increase in the amount of tonnage heading this way. Miscellaneous charters quiet. The schooner Louis will load coal at Tacoma for San Francisco.

Wheat—There is little life or animation to the market. Shippers have no pressing wants to fill and consequently are only in the market when sellers will come to their terms. Foreign markets are weaker and there is nothing in the situation at present to encourage an active movement. Offerings are somewhat more liberal but bids do not meet holders' views. Quote, No. 1 shipping, $1.25@1.27½.

Futures—Quiet and steady. Sales—Morning session—100 tons buyer year at $1.36⅛, 200 tons at $1.36, 100 tons at $1.37, 100 tons at $1.35⅝. Buyer season, $1.40¼; seller year, new, $1.27⅝. Closed—buyer, year, $1.36; buyer season, $1.40¼; seller year, new, $1.27⅝.

Barley—Demand fair and market steady; offerings are kept well in hand and buyers are unable to force values lower. Quote feed, choice, 67½@70c; No. 1 feed, 65@67½c; brewing, 82½@87½c; futures neglected.

Oats—Prices are maintained on a steady basis although the demand is very slow and buyers are taking their time about filling contracts. Quote feed, choice, $1 15@1 17½; No. 1 feed, $1 12½@1 15; common grades, $1 02½@1 10; milling, $1 20@1 25.

Millstuffs—Quiet; demand fair. Oregon bran, $12 00@12; middlings, $13 50@14.

THE PROHIBITION CLAUSE.

A Sample of the Opinion on This Subject in the Rural Districts.

Union Ridge, W. T., Sept. 5.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

A meeting of the people was held here this evening to consider the prohibition clause of the new state constitution. Mr. G. L. Lindsley was made chairman.

The following resolution was offered and, after a most enthusiastic discussion, adopted without a dissenting vote:

Whereas, At the constitutional convention recently held at Olympia a separate, non-partisan clause was advocated, granting to the electors of the coming state of Washington the privilege of voting for or against the prohibition of the liquor traffic; and,

Whereas, Such privilege has been granted, thus securing to the electors an opportunity to vote for or against prohibition, simply on its own merits, without sacrificing any party principle or preference in politics; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the rate-payers and residents of Union Ridge and vicinity here assembled, in view of the gigantic and increasing evils resulting from the liquor traffic; and of the signal failure of the license system to remove or lessen these evils, do heartily indorse the cause of prohibition, and that by influence and example we shall endeavor to secure its adoption at the election to be held on the first day of October next.

After this another resolution was passed relating to a saloon recently started at Woodland:

We, the people of Union Ridge here assembled, having heard of the recent opening of a saloon at Woodland, a community hitherto known as temperate, orderly and law-abiding, said saloon being imposed on the people without even consulting or regarding their wish or mind in the matter, thus invading their rights and imperilling their interests if the nefarious imposition be submitted to; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we hereby express our heartfelt sympathy with our friends at Woodland in their protest against the outrage; and we earnestly hope that they will be successful in their efforts by all lawful and proper means to have the nuisance speedily removed.

The place of meeting was well filled and everyone there was in full sympathy with the cause of prohibition. The speeches were numerous and full of vim, and though repeatedly called for, none unfavorable to prohibition were made. Among the speakers were the chairman, and Rev. A. McKenzie, and Messrs. Lambert, Gilbert, Hicks, Young, Hall, Meisenheimer, Lane and Abrams. F. H. GILBERT, Secretary.

There is not a Cooking Apparatus made using the Solid Oven Door but that the loss in weight of meat is from twenty-five to forty per cent. of the meat roasted. In other words, a rib of beef, weighing ten pounds if roasted medium to well-done will lose three pounds. The same roasted in the CHARTER OAK RANGE using the WIRE GAUZE OVEN DOOR, loses about one pound.

To allow meat to shrink is to lose a large portion of its juices and flavor. The fibres do not separate, and it becomes tough, tasteless and unpalatable.

WHAT IS SAPOLIO?

is a solid handsome cake of scouring soap which has no equal for all cleaning purposes except in the laundry. To use it is to value it.

What will SAPOLIO do? Why it will clean paint, make oil-cloths bright, and give the floors, tables and shelves a new appearance. It will take the grease off the dishes and off the pots and pans. You can scour the knives and forks with it, and make the tin things shine brightly. The wash-basin, the bath-tub, even the greasy kitchen sink will be as clean as a new pin if you use SAPOLIO. One cake will prove all we say. Be a clever housekeeper and try it.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. THERE IS BUT ONE SAPOLIO.

FIRST DAY OF THE RACES.

Jim Miller Wins the Quarter Mile Dash and Jack Brady the Mile Run.

The Montana Men Placed Their Money on Sunday and Were Fooled—A Fair Sized Crowd in Attendance

How the Montana horsemen are growling [illegible] Sunday to win the opening [illegible] meeting of the Portland speed [illegible] and some of them came near going [illegible]

Threatening weather prevented a large attendance. The morning was cool and cloudy with threats of rain, but shortly after noon the sky cleared up and the rest of the day was bright and warm. About 1000 people saw the races and under the circumstances that was pretty good for the opening day.

The track was a trifle heavy. W. J. Scoggin, Joseph Buchtel and Richard Everding were the judges and Louis F. Chemin and William G. Nesmith the timers.

The judges took hold with a determination of putting an end to unnecessary delays, and notified the jockeys and owners that the horses would have to be at the post on time or the start would be made without them. Before the races began Mr. Buchtel claimed the attention of the spectators and made a short speech from the judges' stand.

"We want all to understand that there will be no [illegible] in these races," he said. "The association [is] determined that there shall be none and [any] horseman attempting it will be expelled [from] the grounds and his horses ruled off the [track]. [Applause.] Neither shall there be any unnecessary delay in starting the races. Horses that are not at the post on time will not be started." [Applause.]

SUNDAY WINS A DASH.

Notwithstanding this the horses were very slow and it was three quarters of an hour after the schedule time when they were sent to the post. [Cy]clone was the favorite in the pools, closing at [$20] against $10 for the field.

After the horses had scored for half an hour, [Mr.] Frazier [gave] them a beautiful start, the entire [field] being in motion when the flag fell, with Jim [Miller] leading, Sunday second, [Cyclone] third, Little Dick fourth, Sugar in the Barrel fifth, Pappoose sixth and White Cloud last. Bally gave [Sunday] his head from the start and the bay gelding [pres]sed Miller hard and passed him 200 yards [from] the start. It was a pretty race to the [finish]. Nelson pushed Miller hard to regain the [lost] lead and all the boys used their whips with [[illegible]] spirit. Coming down the last 150 yards, it looked as if Sunday and Miller were running neck and neck. They were being urged for all the speed they had. Sunday kept his lead to the finish and won half a head in front of Jim Miller second, a length before Cyclone third, the others well up.

THE MONTANA MEN FELT GOOD

Sunday's performance ran up his stock in the pools. He sold for $10 against $4 for Cyclone, $3 for Jim Miller and $1 for the field. The horses were promptly sent to the post where there was another [[illegible]] half hour in scoring. In a dozen successive false starts Sunday never budged an inch, and when the flag did fall for the real start he was not in the race. White Cloud led the procession, [tw]o lengths before Miller, second with Little Dick a good third and the others strung out. Miller passed White Cloud half way down the straight, and passed under the wire half a length in advance of the gray gelding, Cyclone third.

Then there was trouble. Bally, Sunday's rider, and [Lamb]ert, who piloted Cyclone, protested that [they] had been placed at a disadvantage at the [start], that Starter Frazier called the horses back from a false start and immediately after gave them the word.

Mr. Frazier denied the charge. "The start was as fair as it could possibly be," he said. "I tried my best to get Sunday off, but Bally did not seem inclined to start him."

Mr. Frazier acted very fairly. He was altogether too lenient with Bally in permitting him to hold Sunday back at the post without making a budge in twelve attempts.

The judges then took a hand to right things, and jumped from the frying pan into the fire. Their decision allowing Sunday and Jim Miller to run the race over was unwise and unfair. Sunday having been left at the post, was out of the race, and no other horse having won a heat in two dashes, the race according to the rules was Miller's.

THEY GOT A SURFEIT OF DASHES.

Another race was just what the Montana men wanted and they got all they wanted before the day was over. They immediately began buying Sunday pools at $20 while Miller sold for $16. Sunday was first away from the post with Miller close up. It was nip and tuck all the way and Miller was pressing the leader when Sunday fouled him inside the seven-eighths pole. It was a palpable foul. Miller had the pole and Sunday was deliberately swerved from his course so as to crowd Miller to the soft ground. Sunday passed under the wire a length ahead. The foul did not escape the attention of the judges and they gave Miller the race.

BRADY AN EASY WINNER.

Those who put their money on Jack Brady to win the mile dash made a good selection. He was the first favorite to win at City View in a long time. When the horses came up to the stand to get positions Judge Buchtel admonished the boys to be careful. "Remember the penalty for fouling of which you have seen a good lesson," he said.

The horses were detained at the post fifteen minutes by Coloma's sulkiness and Regal's obstinacy. After seven attempts the runners were sent away in a bunch, with Moses B.'s head in front, Regal well up and Brady third. Brady forged to the front before the first turn was made. He was the first to round the quarter post, Moses B. second, Regal a good third, the others strung out with Coloma at the tail end. In this order they passed the half mile post. Moses B., who had been closing up the gap between himself and the leader, now forged to the lead and kept it to the five-eighths pole, where Brady again resumed command. Brady had things his own way to the wire and won by a length, Little Phil second, half a length in front of Coloma third.

ALTA WINS A HEAT

The trotting race, 2:30 class, was begun at 5:30. Alta won the first heat. He led from the start and never made a bobble, passing the stand half a length before Lady Maud. C. H. Lewis, who drove Lady Maud, claimed that he had been fouled by Alta. The judges disallowed the claim. Altena finished third, but the judges did not see it that way, and gave her fourth place, putting Pricemont, who came in last, in third place.

BOTH FELL DOWN A STAIRWAY.

Two Accidents at the International Hotel—A Little Girl Perhaps Fatally Injured—A Lady Escapes More Luckily

A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hendie, aged between six and seven years, fell down the stairs in the International hotel yesterday forenoon and sustained what will probably prove fatal injuries. Mr. Hendie arrived with his wife and five children from San Francisco on the steamer State of California in the morning and took a room at the hotel. As the children were amusing themselves playing in the hallway Mr. and Mrs. Hendie left them alone a short time while they went up the street for a walk. During their absence the little girl, between six and seven years old, commenced sliding down one of the banisters, and while engaged in this innocent amusement she lost her balance and fell to the floor below, striking in such a manner as to receive two terrible cuts on the head. She was picked up unconscious and Dr. Cauthorn was summoned to attend her injuries. The physician at once saw the serious character of the wounds and expressed doubts as to her recovery. However he did everything possible to alleviate her suffering. During the entire afternoon she remained in a critical condition and late last night she was very uneasy and restless. Though still unconscious she cried considerable and suffered a great deal of pain in the head. The physician thought last night that the chances of recovery are very slender.

ANOTHER BANISTER ACCIDENT

At an early hour yesterday morning Mr. Lewis ton's niece, a young lady who has recently arrived from the old country, met with a rather serious accident by falling half way down a flight of stairs in the International hotel. The lady had just started down from the second floor when a misstep precipitated her head first half way down, her head struck the banister, causing a slight concussion of the skull. She was taken to her room where her injuries were attended and late last night she was resting easy. Dr. Hand, who is in attendance, thinks that her recovery is only a matter of a few weeks.

ALL ABOUT A COUNTERFEIT BILL

Isaac Lawrence Gets Into Trouble for Passing One and Getting Change

Isaac Lawrence, who was arrested last Saturday for passing a counterfeit bill on Mrs. William Palmer, had an examination before United States Commissioner Paul F. Deady, who after hearing the testimony took the case under advisement and Lawrence was remanded to jail pending the decision. Lawrence has been rooming at Mrs. Palmer's lodging house for several days and being a stranger was required to pay in advance. Last Friday, when asked for the rent, he pulled a roll of bills from his pocket and proffered Mrs. Palmer one of the denomination of $10. She demurred to making change, but he said he had no smaller bill, upon which she gave him $9.50 in change. The bill proved to be a counterfeit, and she forthwith caused the arrest of Lawrence.

In reply Lawrence testified that he never had the bogus bill in his possession and said Mrs. Palmer had it in her hand when he paid her. The bills he had he received at the First National bank. Mr. Ross, paying teller of that bank, testified that Lawrence got bills at the bank frequently, but that he did not get the counterfeit bill there.

The bill is calculated to deceive one not knowing anything about greenbacks, but anyone accustomed to handling greenbacks would notice at a glance that it was a counterfeit. It may be remarked here that genuine greenbacks have a thread of silk woven in them near the top and another near the bottom. These threads can be seen by holding the bill between the eye and the light, and by tearing a little piece off at either end the end of the thread can be seen.

Lawrence is a morphine fiend and a total wreck. He was raised here and his parents and brother reside here, but will do nothing for him.

A REPORTER'S BAD BREAK

He Has Jack Dempsey and Wife in Chicago Instead of On the Ocean

The following dispatch was received yesterday in this city:

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—A special from Chicago says: Jack Dempsey in a very quiet way, entered Chicago yesterday and left it again a few hours later. He was accompanied by his wife and they were on their way from San Francisco to Buffalo.

The dispatch was evidently taken from a Chicago morning paper and telegraphed to one of the San Francisco papers. The Chicago reporter who wrote the article probably heard a rumor to the effect that the Nonpareil had passed through that city, and knowing the interest with which an article about either Dempsey or La Blanche is read by the sporting class wrote up an item and probably an interview with the Nonpareil. When the writer of the article finds out that at the time his bit of "news" appeared in print Jack, with his wife and child, were on the steamer Oregon bound for San Francisco, he will feel rather sheepish.

Dempsey's contract with the California Athletic Club to act as boxing instructor will not expire for nearly a year yet. He will not be likely to pay either Chicago or Buffalo a quiet visit during that time.

DEATH ENDED HIS SUFFERINGS

The Remains of Engineer Shoffner Sent to Roseburg for Burial Yesterday Afternoon

The remains of W. W. Shoffner, the freight conductor who died from the effects of injuries received in being run over in the Southern Pacific freight yards Monday forenoon, were yesterday morning removed from St. Vincent hospital to the undertaking rooms of De Lin & Holman.

When Shoffner was placed on the operating table to have the right leg amputated, his respiration was very low and the physicians even had little hopes that he would survive the operation. The effects of the anaesthetics and the operation left him still weaker and when death resulted the worst fears of those in attendance were realized.

The wife of the unfortunate man was telegraphed for immediately after the accident, and she arrived only to take the lifeless remains of her husband home with her. The body was sent to the late home of the deceased in Roseburg, where the funeral will be held.

Mr. Shoffner bore an excellent reputation and was liked by all who knew him. He gave entire satisfaction to his employers who placed implicit confidence in his character and ability. The deceased was also a member in good standing in several secret societies.

A NEW CABLE ROAD

One That Runs From the Head of Gibbs Street Away Up the Hill

Among the numerous electric and steam motor and cable roads now in various stages of progress, and reaching out in all directions from the city, is one of which very little has been heard. It runs from the head of Gibbs street to Mr. J. A. Marquam's property, on the top of the hill.

The franchise for this road was granted a short time since to Mr. Frank Prantl, who is a stranger here, and it is understood that the road is to be operated by a cable. A gentleman who came down over the proposed line yesterday says it is graded, the trestles are built, and it is about ready for track laying. The only part visible from the city runs around the side of the first gulch south of Marquam's gulch up into the timber by an easy grade.

At present it ends at the railroad across the head of Gibbs street, and the residents in that vicinity seem to know but little about it and cannot tell whether it is intended that it shall cross the railroad and go down to First street or not. As the Fulton Park electric motor line is to come up Gibbs street from Corbett to Front it may be that this cable road is intended to connect with it.

IT WILL DOUBLE YOUR MONEY ANNUALLY

Salaried men or women, or those having a little money they wish to invest to a good purpose, would help themselves by buying the $60 to $125 lots in Wisdom's addition to La Grande, Oregon. These lots are within two blocks of the public school, about one third of a mile from the depot. La Grande is on the eve of a good growth. Its property must double in value annually until the maximum in population is reached, which means 10,000 people. Address J. K. Romig, La Grande, or see plat at drug store corner Front and Stark streets.

ALPINE CLUB MEETING.

Assurances Received That the Deer-Skinning Law Is Being Enforced

The Prosecuting Attorneys of the First and Second Judicial Districts Are on the Look Out.

The regular monthly meeting of the Oregon Alpine Club was held last night in the rooms of the club in the Portland Savings bank building. The attendance was light and in the absence of the president and vice-president, Sherman Martin was called to the chair. Among those present were Professor Alfred Sieg[?], B. J. Pengra[?], Louis B. Aiken, Sherman Martin, O. T. Aiken, J. G. Hogan and George H. Himes. Mr. Himes acted as secretary.

By the way of a fitting prelude Professor Sieg[?] rendered a selection on the piano which was heartily enjoyed.

The principal business under consideration was the reading of reports from different sections of the state regarding the enforcement of the deer skinning law, which the club engineered through the legislature at the last session. The law is strict and rigid measures are employed to enforce it, but notwithstanding all of these safeguards and precautions violations have been reported.

District Attorney J. W. Hamilton, of the second judicial district, writing from Roseburg, stated that he would do everything in his power to enforce the law in the counties under his jurisdiction. With regard to a particular case to which his attention had been called, he found upon investigation that the parties having the hides in their possession had bought them before the law went into effect.

W. M. Colvig, district attorney of the first judicial district, writing from Jacksonville, stated that violations of the law reported to him as having occurred at Glendale, Wolf Creek, West Fork, Riddles, Myrtle Creek and other stations in Douglas county were out of his jurisdiction and he could do nothing in the premises. "I am in hearty sympathy with a strict and rigid enforcement of the law," said he. "Last week I swore out a complaint against one of the prominent merchants of Josephine county. I caught him with seventy-five hides at the Grants Pass depot. He acknowledged his guilt and his justices have no jurisdiction in such cases; he gave bonds to appear at the next term of court. I yesterday caught a merchant at Gold Hill having one elk hide and seven deer hides. They had been brought from Coos county.

"I saw the hides at Riddle's and told the justice there what his duty was. The merchants at Canyonville own them. The deer were killed on the headwaters of the Umpqua river. There were about 500 hides. The owners should be prosecuted.

"The law as amended is the most salutary measure ever adopted for the protection of game. Its good effects will be apparent to all before a year. If the law is strictly enforced, within two years our mountains will swarm with deer. I have lived in Oregon thirty-eight years and the wanton destruction of this noble game has been for years past a painful matter for me to witness, and the Alpine club may be sure that I will spare neither friend nor foe in enforcing this law."

Several other letters, all of an encouraging character, were read, and it looks as though united efforts are put forth to enforce the law. The Oregon Alpine Club will assist in the prosecution of any case that is brought to its notice. An informal discussion followed the reading of these letters.

Mr. Himes then read an account of the last ascent of the summit of Mount Rainier, written by Charles H. G[?], a member of the club. It was on that trip that the club left a metallic box containing a record book on the topmost pinnacle of the mountain.

This closed the business of the evening and the meeting adjourned.

A LABOR SAVING INVENTION

Successful Trial of a Combined Self Feeder and Band Cutter

The Salem Statesman of September 10 has the following: On Saturday at Lyman Damon's place, near Monmouth, one of the new self feeders and band cutters combined was given a test and proved satisfactory in every particular. It would feed the grain much more evenly than when fed by hand and was pronounced as perfect by all those that witnessed the trial. It is made by the Advance Thresher Co. of Battle Creek, Michigan, and represented by Z. F. Wright of Portland, who was present at the trial. Mr. Wright says he will be able to supply those that give an early order for next year's work. They can be fitted to any thresher and save the labor of four men.

THE STAGE

NEW PARK THEATER.—Iolanthe was given for the second time last night to a well pleased audience and the several numbers were received with every evidence of enjoyment.

The Peers' chorus received a vigorous encore, as also did the several trios and quartettes, and the entire performance seemed to give satisfaction.

Iolanthe again for the last time to-night.

To-morrow night will be given for the first time Planquette's delightful opera "Nell Gwynne," which fairly bubbles over with sparkling music.

CORDRAY'S MUSEE-THEATER.—My Geraldine was given to another crowded house last night, and the play went smoothly throughout.

Miss Essie Tittel in the title role was strong and effective, and gave a most forceful characterization of the part, and the remainder of the characters were adequately sustained.

My Geraldine again to-night and matinee to-day at 1:30.

Consumption avoided by checking colds with Kidd's Cough Syrup, at all druggists.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, muffins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

"Yes sir," said Digberry excitedly, to his friend Pul[?]oly, "I was positively held up, and by the cheekiest thief that ever padded the road. I had been out with the boys, and was going home straight as a string, honor bright, when a fellow jumps out on me and cries, 'Hold up your hands!' Up they went and he went through me. Not a red, I'd dropped everything on the last deal. 'Well,' he says, 'if you haven't any money give me them pants.' So I had to sit down and take off the nice new pair I bought of Kohn only last week. 'Say,' he says looking at the pants, 'where did you buy them?' 'At Kohn's on Morrison street.' 'Well, then,' he says, 'never try to beat four aces.'"
